Baxter, 1999-10-30 In the desperate summer of 1942 Hitler seemed to be on the verge of victory in Russia and the Middle East With Rommel nearing Cairo a little known lieutenant general Bernard Montgomery took charge of what Churchill called a baffled and bewildered British 8th Army Assuming command Montgomery issued his famous order Here we will stand and fight If we can t stay here alive then let us stay here dead and led the Army to one of the Allies greatest victories El Alamein Monty became an instantly recognizable Allied leader but as a man with strong views unbending principles and outspoken frankness he was both loved and disliked praised and criticized This bibliography presents and evaluates the extensive body of literature that has grown up around the controversial Field Marshal Any serious study of World War II military campaigns must confront Field Marshal Bernard Montgomery an individualist with both admirers and detractors This book provides an extensive historiographical overview of the literature in Part I and a bibliography of significant works in Part II It is a basic reference and research guide for the student scholar and general reader The Dardanelles Campaign, 1915 Fred R. van Hartesveldt,1997-11-20 The passage of time has not slowed the production of books and articles about World War I This volume provides a guide to the historiography and bibliography of the Dardanelles Campaign including the Gallipoli invasion It focuses on military history but also provides information on political histories that give significant attention to the handling of the Dardanelles Campaign The opening section of the book provides background information about the campaign discusses the major sources of information and lays out the major interpretative disputes A comprehensive annotated bibliography follows This book nicely complements the two earlier volumes on World War I battles The Battle of Jutland by Eugene Rasor and The Battles of the Somme by Fred R van Hartesveldt The Boer War Fred R. van Hartesveldt,2000-05-30 One hundred years after the Boer War the British continue to debate what went wrong while the war has significant nationalist overtones in today s South Africa This book examines changes in interpretations of the war and provides a bibliography of major sources on the Boer War now sometimes called the South African War The bibliography focuses on the military history but also includes some historical accounts of the political debate The first part of the book provides an extended historiographical essay while part two provides an annotated bibliography of the titles discussed in part one Historiographical questions concerning the Boer War are numerous Discussions of military operations focus on the early use of modern weaponry and the effect of guerrilla tactics on a traditional force while other historians debate the question of British military leadership and organization Questions also revolve around British imperialism and the scramble for Africa Frequently called the second war for freedom by South African authors the war was the reason that South Africa unlike other British colonies gained independence without majority rule This makes the war of continuing relevance to the turmoil in South Africa the collapse of the minority government and the continuing problems of the current government This book will provide a useful tool for those wishing to research the war The China-Burma-India Campaign, 1931-1945 Eugene L. Rasor,1998-03-19 The China Burma India campaign of the Asian Pacific war of World War II was the most complex if not the most controversial theater of the entire war Guerrilla warfare commando and special intelligence operations and air tactics originated here The literature is extensive and this book provides an evaluative survey of that vast literature A comprehensive compilation of some 1 500 titles the work includes a narrative historiographical overview and an annotated bibliography of the titles covered in the historiographical section Following an introductory historical essay and a chronology the historiographical narrative covers land water underwater air and combined operations intelligence matters diplomacy and logistics and supply It also examines the memoirs diaries autobiographies and biographies of the personnel involved Such cultural topics as journalism fiction film and art are analyzed and existing gaps in the literature are looked at The bibliography provides both descriptive and evaluative annotations The RAF and Aircraft Design, 1923-1939 Colin Sinnott,2001 This work describes the vital role of the Air Ministry in the development of the RAF s fighters and bombers before WWII The War in North Africa, 1940-1943

Colin F. Baxter, 1996-03-30 Few of the major campaigns of World War II aroused as much controversy as the War in North Africa 1940-1943. Figures such as Rommel, Montgomery and Eisenhower would become world famous because of the fighting in North Africa. This book opens with seven historiographical essays that evaluate and critically assess the major contributions to the literature on the War in North Africa. It then includes an alphabetically arranged bibliography of the 504 entries cited in the essays. The material is easily accessible with cross references between the text and the bibliography and a full index. The volume includes chapters on the Desert War 1940-42, the Axis Powers in North Africa, Montgomery, Alam Halfa and El Alamein, TORCH, the Landings in French North Africa and the Tunisian Campaign. Full attention is given to questions and issues historians have raised on such controversies as the Auchinleck-Montgomery dispute, the debate over Operation TORCH and the Darlan affair. Emphasis is on English language works but the most significant Italian, German and French works are cited and assessed. The book has been written for use in public, college, university and institutional libraries and to serve general readers and military historians.

The RAF and Aircraft Design Colin S. Sinnott, 2014-05-22 This work examines the evolution of the RAF's operational requirements for its home defence air force for bombers to mount a deterrent counter-offensive and for fighters to provide direct defence of Britain. It discusses the management processes, policies and decisions relevant to operational requirements on the basis of a detailed study of Air Ministry papers of the time. By tracing the development of operational requirements, the author exposes the thinking behind the RAF's quest for effective fighter and bomber aircraft. He describes the ideas and concepts of air warfare that were adopted in the 1920s and shows how these evolved into the Air Staff's requirements for the aircraft which the RAF entered and fought in World War II.

Choice, 2005 The Southwest Pacific Campaign, 1941-1945 Eugene L. Rasor, 1996-09-24 Providing comprehensive coverage of the literature on the Southwest Pacific Campaign of World War II, this book includes both a historiographical narrative and an annotated bibliography of over 1500 entries. Part I, the historiographical narrative, includes a general survey and review of the works listed in Part II, the annotated bibliography. The historiographical survey features critical analysis and an evaluation of the literature, making an effort to place each work in context and also pointing to gaps in the literature. The bibliography section includes descriptive and evaluative annotations. Works cited in Part I are cross-referenced to Part II. The book reviews, evaluates and integrates a comprehensive collection of popular and scholarly literature on the Southwest Pacific Campaign. Coverage includes operations in all dimensions: land, sea, air, underwater and combinations of these. The work covers personnel and their experiences and includes memoirs, diaries, autobiographies, biographies and oral histories. It also covers intelligence matters, diplomacy, logistics and supply, and cultural aspects such as journalism, fiction, film and art. Available archival research and library facilities and materials are also described. There is an introductory historical essay, a chronology and comprehensive indexes.
