Dalit Solidarity:

Transnational Social Mobilisation and Minority Rights Corinne Lennox,2019-12-05 This book explores the ways in which minority groups across the world are reshaping the international minority rights protection system It documents the actions of four major groups that are using transnational social mobilisation to achieve recognition of their identities and their rights The result is a greater pluralism in global identity politics and a wide range of new group specific standards that can inform policies on multiculturalism political participation and socio economic inclusion in the national and international spheres The book begins by summarising the learning from the global movements of indigenous peoples and Roma The book then focuses in greater depth on the cases of Afro descendants in Latin America and of Dalits and caste affected groups in South Asia and beyond Each case study shows the historical roots of group specific transnational mobilisation and how activists have constructed a distinct identity frame out of shared experiences The book explores key parallels and differences between the discourse framing strategies organisational structures and political opportunities used in each case to show which factors have influenced the success or failures of their norm entrepreneurship The role that international institutions have played in supporting these efforts is given special attention including intergovernmental bodies such as the UN the EU and the OAS and international non governmental organisations The UN World Conference Against Racism is explored as a particularly significant political opportunity across the cases Among academic audiences this book will appeal to those researching minority rights social movements global governance discrimination and multiculturalism from legal political sociological and critical theory perspectives It will also interest practitioners and activists working on minority rights and the challenges of norm compliance socio economic inclusion and governance The Formulation of Scripture Naveen Rao,2010

Dalit Solidarity Bhagwan Das,James Massey,1995 Contributed papers on untouchables in India Human Rights in Postcolonial India Om Prakash Dwivedi,V. G. Julie Rajan,2016-02-26 This volume looks at human rights in independent India through frameworks comparable to those in other postcolonial nations in the Global South It examines wide ranging issues that require immediate attention such as those related to disability violence torture education LGBT neoliberalism and social justice The essays presented here explore the discourse surrounding human rights and engage with aspects linked to the functioning of democracy security and strategic matters and terrorism especially post 9 11 They also discuss cases connected with human rights violations in India and underline the need for a transparent approach and a more comprehensive perspective of India s human rights record Part of the series Ethics Human Rights and Global Political Thought the volume will be an important resource for academics policy makers civil society organisations lawyers and those concerned with human rights It will also be useful to scholars and researchers of Indian politics law and sociology The Liberative Mission of the Church Among Dalit Christians L. Stanislaus,1999 Study with reference to Tamil Nadu India Capturing Caste in Law Annapurna Waughray,2022-05-11 This book is about the legal regulation of caste discrimination

It highlights the difficulty of capturing caste in international and domestic law and suggests solutions. Its aim is to contribute to the task of understanding how to secure effective legal protection from and prevention of discrimination on grounds of caste and why this is important and necessary. It does this by examining the legal conceptualization and regulation of caste as a social category and as a ground of discrimination in international law and in two national jurisdictions, India and the UK, identifying their complexities, strengths, limitations, and potential. Adopting a broadly chronological approach, the book aims to present an account of the role of law in the construction of caste inequality and discrimination and the subsequent legal efforts to dismantle it. The book will be of value to lawyers and non-lawyers, academics and students of human rights, international law, equalities and discrimination, descent-based and caste-based discrimination, minority rights, and South Asia and its diaspora. It will be a resource for legal practitioners and those in the public and non-governmental sectors involved in the implementation, interpretation, and enforcement of equality law in the UK, the first European country to introduce the word caste into domestic equality legislation, and in countries with South Asian diasporas such as the USA.

Education and Empowerment Among Dalit (untouchable) Women in India, Moses Seenarine, 2004. This book explores the problems of how caste and gender issues are related to the education and empowerment of rural Dalit women in India. The key focus is on the presentation of Dalit female voices regarding their educational experiences. Specifically, this study explores the nature and role of education and its relationship to empowerment among thirty-three poor rural Dalit women and girls who volunteered to become involved with an explicit women's empowerment project, the Mahila Samakhya program in Karnataka, India, during the years 1994 to 1995. This book will be of interest to practitioners in the fields of development, sociology, cultural studies, and education, caste, gender, post-modern, and subaltern academics and students, the general public, and policy makers in India, Dalits, and Dalit women, in particular.

The Political Sociology of Dalit Assertion, Prakash Louis, 2003. The book attempts to identify the factors which respond against the age-old bondage of diverse and varied discriminations and exploitations and build the Dalit Assertion for emancipation and determine the path for liberation.

Laws for Dalit Rights and Dignity, A. Ramaiah, 2007. The concern for protecting the rights and dignity of Dalits, Scheduled Castes, has been a major challenge even after India's independence. Despite special protective laws such as the Protection of Civil Rights Act 1955 and the Scheduled Castes and

Scheduled Tribes Prevention of Atrocities Act 1989 and their implementation for several decades the Scheduled Castes continue to be the victims of caste based untouchability and atrocities Though most of such incidents go often unreported even the cases registered under these laws also end in acquittal This scenario on the one hand raises doubts on the will and commitment of the state particularly its law enforcing machinery on the other hand it necessitates the need for understanding the various factors that lead to the acquittal of most of these cases The present volume is a pioneering work exploring the uses and abuses of such special protective laws On the basis of the experiences of and views expressed by the victims accused police NGOs judiciary and people in general involved in over 15 acquitted cases chosen for the present study it brings to light the various factors responsible for most of the untouchability and atrocity cases ending in acquittal Thus moving away from the existing practice of depending on the data collected by the government agencies the book relies primarily on the empirical and qualitative data collected from multiple stakeholders It also offers suggestions not only for effective implementation of these laws but also for protecting the interests of Dalits on a permanent basis Journal of Dharma ,2009 NurseAdvance Collection on Cultural Diversity in Nursing Theta Tau International Sigma,2006
