Daniel Deronda, Vol. 2 (Classic Reprint) George Eliot,2015-07-08 Excerpt from Daniel Deronda Vol 2 How should all the apparatus of heaven and earth from the farthest firmament to the tender bosom of the mother who nourished us make poetry for a mind that has no movements of awe and tenderness no sense of fellowship which thrills from the near to the distant and back again from the distant to the near To Deronda this event of finding Mirah was as heart stirring as anything that befell Orestes or Rinaldo He sat up half the night living again through the moments since he had first discerned Mirah on the river brink with the fresh and fresh vividness which belongs to emotive memory When he took up a book to try and dull this urgency of inward vision the printed words were no more than a network through which he saw and heard everything as clearly as before saw not only the actual events of two hours but possibilities of what had been and what might be which those events were enough to feed with the warm blood of passionate hope and fear Something in his own experience caused Mirah s search after her mother to lay hold with peculiar force on his imagination About the Publisher

Nineteenth-Century British Secularism Michael Rectenwald,2016-03-08

Nineteenth Century British Secularism offers a new paradigm for understanding secularization in the nineteenth century It addresses the crisis in the secularization thesis by foregrounding a nineteenth century development called Secularism the particular movement and creed founded by George Jacob Holyoake from 1851 to 1852

Nineteenth Century British Secularism rethinks and reevaluates the significance of Holyoake s Secularism regarding it as a historic moment of modernity and granting it centrality as both a herald and exemplar for a new understanding of modern secularity In addition to Secularism proper the book treats several other moments of secular emergence in the nineteenth century including Thomas Carlyle s natural supernaturalism Richard Carlile s anti theist science advocacy Charles Lyell s uniformity principle in geology Francis Newman s naturalized religion or primitive Christianity and George Eliot s secularism and post secularism
