Devil At Large Erica Jong On Henry Miller:

The Devil at Large Erica Jong, 2013-10-08 Fearless iconic poet novelist and feminist Erica Jong offers a fascinating in depth appreciation of the controversial life and work of American literary giant Henry Miller Henry Miller Tropic of Cancer and Erica Jong Fear of Flying are true literary soul mates Both authors have been in equal measure lauded for their creative genius and maligned for their frank treatment of human sexuality So who better than Erica Jong to offer an expert appraisal and appreciation of Henry Miller the man and his art At once a critical study a biography a memoir of a remarkable friendship and a celebration of the life and work of the author whom Erica Jong compares to Whitman The Devil at Large explores the peaks and valleys of Miller s storied writing career It examines his tumultuous relationships including his doomed marriage to June Mansfield and his lifelong tenuous bond with his mother and confirms his standing as a creative genius Jong a renowned feminist courageously answers critics who accuse her subject of degrading women in his fiction suggesting instead that he sought to demystify them by means of the violent verbal magic of his books With grace wit warmth and intelligence Jong brings readers close to the man and his writing There has never been a more incisive and insightful analysis of this exceptional American master This ebook features an illustrated biography of Erica Jong including rare photos and never before seen documents from the author s personal collection

The Devil at Large Erica Jong, 1994 Erica Jong the author of Fear of Flying was a correspondent and friend of Henry Miller for the last decade of his life In this blend of biography autobiography scholarship and polemic she sets out to re evaluate Miller s work and to rescue him from charges of misogyny and titillation The book contains Jong s own correspondence with Miller and also examines the background to the diaries of Anais Nin

New York Magazine , 1993-03-01 New York magazine was born in 1968 after a run as an insert of the New York Herald Tribune and quickly made a place for itself as the trusted resource for readers across the country With award winning writing and photography covering everything from politics and food to theater and fashion the magazine s consistent mission has been to reflect back to its audience the energy and excitement of the city itself while celebrating New York as both a place and an idea

Thinking Through the Mothers Janet Beizer, 2011-01-15 If questions of subjectivity and identification are at stake in all biographical writing they are particularly trenchant for contemporary women biographers of women Often their efforts to exhume buried lives in hope of finding spiritual foremothers awaken maternal phantoms that must be embraced or confronted Do women writing in fact have any greater access to their own mothers lives than to the lives of other women whose stories have been swept away like dust in the debris of the past In

Thinking through the Mothers Janet Beizer surveys modern women's biographies and contemplates alternatives to an approach based in lineage and the form of thought that emphasizes the line the path hierarchy unity resemblance reflection and the aesthetic mimesis that depends on these ideas Through close readings of memoirs and fictions about mothers Beizer explores how biographers of the women who came before rehearse and rewrite relationships to their own mothers biographically as they seek to appropriate the past in a hybrid genre she calls bio autobiography Thinking through the Mothers features the work of George Sand and Colette and spans such varied figures as Gustave Flaubert Julian Barnes Louise Colet Eunice Lipton Vladimir Nabokov Huguette Bouchardeau and Christa Wolf Beizer seeks an alternative to women's salvation biography or resurrection biography that might resist nostalgia be attentive to silence and reinvent the means to represent the lives of precursors without appropriating traditional models of genealogy
