Theory and Research in Behavioral Pediatrics Hiram E. Fitzgerald, Barry M Lester, Michael W. Yogman, 2013-06-29 Volume I of Theory and Research in Behavioral Pediatrics focused on issues of early human development with special emphasis given to assessment of the preterm infant and to factors influencing the organization of the caregiver infant relationship Chapters in Volume 2 cover a broader range of topics and encompass a wider age span Chapter I provides a historical review of the relationship between developmental psychology and pediatrics The authors Barbara R Tinsley and Ross D Parke discuss differences between behavioral pediatrics and pediatric psychology and note that interdisciplinary collaboration in research and application has increased steadily in recent years However if similar collaborative efforts are to occur in education and training of pediatricians and developmental psychologists it will be necessary to determine just what each discipline hopes to gain from such collaborative efforts Tinsley and Parke report the results of a national survey designed to determine the areas of developmental psychology that pediatricians perceive to be of potential benefit to them in their delivery of pediatric care Results of the survey suggest that there are many ways in which developmental psychology could be incorporated into the pediatric curriculum In many respects Chapter 2 sets the stage for the remaining chapters

Handbook of Parent Training James M. Briesmeister, Charles E. Schaefer, 1998 Unlike other books on parent training this Handbook takes a purely prescriptive approach Each author begins by identifying a specific problem and then describes an approach to identifying assessing and treating the problem In every instance descriptions of therapeutic techniques are multimodal integrating theory research implementation strategies and extensive case material
