Devotional Poetry in France C. 1570-1613 Terence Cave, 1986 Devotional Poetry in France c.1570-1613 Cave, 2009-06-18 Dr Cave studies the relationship between the traditions of personal devotion in sixteenth century France and the poetry which flourished at the end of the century and the beginning of the seventeenth It was a poetry of intense personal commitment preoccupied with penitence and confession the vanity of life the imminence of death the meaning of the Incarnation and the Passion often verging on mysticism and mingling of the sensual the intellectual and the spiritual in a manner often thought typical of the baroque It was part of a European movement and there is much here to interest the student of the early seventeenth century sensibility A comparable book on English literature is Louis Martz s The Poetry of Meditation but the lines of Dr Cave s enquiry are new The book has a fourfold interest to readers concerned with French literature to those with particular interest in the traditions of devotion to those concerned with comparative studies in the baroque period and to students of rhetorical analysis

Catholic Particularity in Seventeenth-Century French Writing Richard Parish, 2011-07-28 le christianisme est strange Pascal Pens es Pascal s assertion that Christianity is strange provides the theme for Richard Parish s exploration of Catholic particularity as it was expressed in the writing of the French seventeenth century This was a period of quite exceptional fertility in a range of genres apologetics sermons devotional manuals catechisms martyr tragedies lyric poetry polemic and spiritual autobiography Parish examines a broad cross section of this corpus with reference to the topics of apologetics physicality language discernment polemics and salvation and draws evidence both from canonical figures Pascal Bossuet Fénelon St François de Sales Madame Guyon and from less easily available texts Parish aims to consider all those distinctive features that the heritage of the Catholic Reformation brought to the surface in France and to do so in support of the numerous ways in which Christian doctrine could be understood as being strange it is by turns contrary to expectations paradoxical divisive carnal and inexpressible These features are exploited imaginatively in the more conventional literary forms didactically in pulpit oratory and empirically in the accounts of personal spiritual experience In addition they are manifested polemically in debates surrounding penance authority inspiration and eschatology and often push orthodoxy to its limits and beyond in the course of their articulation This volume provides an unsettling account of a belief system to which early modern France often unquestioningly subscribed and shows how the element of cultural assimilation of Catholic Christianity into much of Western Europe only tenuously contains a subversive and counter intuitive creed The degree to which that remains the case will be for the reader
