Dialogues On The Future Of Man:

Dialogues on the Future of Man Frederick Patka, 1975 Dialogues for the Future Taha Abderrahmane, 2023-09-20

Dialogues for the Future provides a sneak peek at the long philosophic journey of the renowned Arab scholar Taha Abderrahmane. The author looks at different thorny issues such as traditions, philosophy, ethics, globalization, and logic through a local prism that is not directly tainted by the Western epistemic and ontological worldview. While seemingly addressing audiences with a background in the philosophy of language and Islamic philosophy, Taha's intellectual project tackles many questions that wider readerships might have about the Muslims and Arabs' contribution to knowledge in the past and present. The translator's introduction on Dialogue Ethics and Traditions contextualizes Taha's book within the plethora of his academic work, allowing English-speaking readers to engage with the open canvas of dialogue. Taha has resiliently initiated

On October 31, 1999, officials of the Lutheran World Federation and the Roman Catholic Church in Augsburg, Germany, signed an Official Common Statement with its Annex and the Joint Declaration on the Doctrine of Justification, declaring publicly and in a binding manner that a consensus in basic truths of the doctrine of justification exists between Lutherans and Catholics. A number of the essays in this book emanate from a conference at the Berkeley Divinity School of Yale University in 2000 that discussed the import of this momentous declaration for ecumenism.

The Dialogues of Plato: Gorgias. Philebus. Parmenides. theaetetus. Sophist. Statesman Plato, 1907 Three Apodeictic Dialogues G. V. Loewen, 2011

The concept of certainty may be approached contextually through the use of dialogue. In three creative dialogues involving characters that are often seen as representing each other's antipodes—a theist and an atheist, a therapist and the rapist, and two multi-voiced group personae—casual ties and casualties, this text negotiates the overlapping aspects of consciousness that each must have in its alter. Coming to know the other in oneself while at the same time othering ourselves is one process of knowing more fully the truth of the human condition. The dialogues are bookended by a meditative and philosophical introduction concerning human finitude and the role of the otherness of death and a scholarly conclusion about the vicissitudes within the use of human language Drawing on sources from anthropology archaeology socio linguistics and critical philosophy and using both conversation and academic exposition Three Apodeictic Dialogues offers a unique perspective on some of the disconcerting questions that animate belief desire and communication Dialogue of Dr. Temple's Essay ["The Education of the World"], with preface in reference to the recent sermon and speech of the Lord Bishop of Exeter.
