Battlefield Nuclear Weapons, Issues and Options Stephen D. Biddle, Peter D. Feaver, 1989-12 Battlefield nuclear weapons BNW have become a major Alliance concern In the wake of the INF Treaty the superpower summit at Reykjavik and the proposals of Mikhail Gorbachev NATO is reevaluating nearly every aspect of its defense posture This book is designed to contribute to that reevaluation by analyzing what deterrent value BNW have and whether they offer the military capability necessary to offset the potential damage to Alliance cohesion To help sort out answers to these questions CSIA held a conference on BNW organized by fellows Stephen Biddle and Peter Feaver This paper in presenting the results of that conference has three purposes to introduce the issues raised by BNW in the post INF era to present a survey of the specialist debate and to analyze the disagreements underlying the debate Co published with Center for Science and International Affairs Harvard University

Coercion Kelly M. Greenhill, Peter Krause, 2018 From the rising significance of non state actors to the increasing influence of regional powers the nature and conduct of international politics has arguably changed dramatically since the height of the Cold War Yet much of the literature on deterrence and compellence continues to draw whether implicitly or explicitly upon assumptions and precepts formulated in and predicated upon politics in a state centric bipolar world Coercion moves beyond these somewhat hidebound premises and examines the critical issue of coercion in the 21st century with a particular focus on new actors strategies and objectives in this very old bargaining game The chapters in this volume examine intra state inter state and transnational coercion and deterrence as well as both military and non military instruments of persuasion thus expanding our understanding of coercion for conflict in the 21st century Scholars have analyzed the causes dynamics and effects of coercion for decades but previous works have principally focused on a single state employing conventional military means to pressure another state to alter its behavior In contrast this volume captures fresh developments both theoretical and policy relevant This chapters in this volume focus on tools terrorism sanctions drones cyber warfare intelligence and forced migration actors insurgents social movements and NGOs and mechanisms trilateral coercion diplomatic and economic isolation foreign imposed regime change coercion of nuclear proliferators and two level games that have become more prominent in recent years but which have yet to be extensively or systematically addressed in either academic or policy literatures

Unraveling the Gray Area Problem Luke Griffith, 2023-12-15 In Unraveling the Gray Area Problem Luke Griffith examines the US role in why the Intermediate Range Nuclear Forces INF Treaty took almost a decade to negotiate and then failed in just thirty years The INF Treaty enhanced Western security by prohibiting US and Russian ground based missiles with maximum ranges of 500 to 5 500 kilometers Significantly it eliminated hundreds of Soviet SS 20 missiles which could annihilate targets throughout Eurasia in minutes Through close scrutiny of US theater nuclear policy from 1977 to 1987 Griffith describes the Carter administration's masterminding of the dual track decision of December 1979 the North Atlantic Treaty Organization NATO initiative that led to the INF Treaty The Reagan administration in turn overcame bureaucratic infighting Soviet intransigence and political obstacles at home and abroad to achieve a satisfactory outcome in the INF negotiations Disagreements between the US and Russia undermined the INF Treaty and led to its dissolution in 2019 Meanwhile the US is developing a new generation of ground based INF type missiles that will have an operational value on the battlefield Griffith urges policymakers to consider the utility of INF type missiles in new arms control negotiations Understanding the scope and consistency of US arms control policy across the Carter and Reagan administrations offers important lessons for policymakers in the twenty first century Continental Air Defense Arthur Charo, 1990-07-11 The Strategic Defense Initiative intensified study of defending America against nuclear missile attack but even a perfect SDI would leave North America open to attack from bombers and cruise missiles The neglected topic of continental air defense was the focus of a conference held at the Center for Science and International Affairs at Harvard's John F Kennedy School of Government This comprehensive occasional paper by physicist and CSIA fellow Arthur Charo which grew out of the conference lays out the technological prospects and problems for air defense in a manner accessible to expert and layperson alike Co published with the Center for Science and International Affairs Harvard University American Defense Annual, 1994 Foreign Policy Choices for the Seventies and Eighties United States.
