Angel At Apogee:

Angel at Apogee S. N. Lewitt, 1987 To her fellow pilots Gaelian is the Angel the best of their elite fighting force To the powerful ruling Board of Dinoreos she is the Eldest of the Eldest of her household scheming and plotting to claim her rightful place while she strives to overcome the handicap of a childhood spent on the primitive world of Cahaute But Gaelian is haunted by memories Even in space she feels the Power Clans of Cahaute with her though to surrender to the magic of her childhood would mean abandoning the honors and privileges she has worked so hard for on Dinoreos Then before she can make her choice Gaelian discovers a secret older than either of her worlds and suddenly she holds the future of both in her hands Pg 4 of cover The Angel's Cry Michel Poizat, 1992 French in 1986 is now available in Arthur Denner's fluid and sensitive English translation Predictably Poizat's route is not at all a conventional one Rather than taking as his point of departure the intentions of composers and librettists he is primarily concerned with the expectations and desires of the audience He reports on an informal group interview with overnight standees on the Paris Opera House steps as they compare notes on how opera became an addiction What Do I Read Next? 2002 Neil Barron, Gale Group, 2002-10-22 By identifying similarities in various books this annual selection guide helps readers to independently choose titles of interest published in the last year Each entry describes a separate book listing everything readers need to know to make selections Arranged by author within six genre sections detailed entries provide Title Publisher and publication date Series Names and descriptions of characters Time period and geographical setting Review citations Story types Brief plot summary Selected other books by the author Similar books by different authors Author title series character name character description time period geographic setting and genre sub genre indexes are included to facilitate research Science Fiction & Fantasy Book Review Annual Robert A. Collins, Robert Latham, 1988 The Flight of the Angels Alistair Charles Rolls, 1999 It is a close study of four novels by Boris Vian It aims to show how L'Écume des jours L'Automne à Pékin L'Herbe rouge and L'Arrache-cœur form a unified and coherent tetralogy By establishing close links between these four texts it becomes possible to achieve a more comprehensive understanding not only of the significance of the tetralogy in exposing a complex and multi-layered novelistic strategy at the heart of the vianesque but of the individual novels as autonomous creations An examination of the novels reveals that they are not merely joined to one another via a superficial network of textual similarities that which I refer to as intratextuality but that this intertwining is emblematic of a common method of narrative construction Each Vian novel is dependent for a thorough understanding of the text to be possible upon the multiple lines of external influence running through it The sources of this influence which I refer to as intertextuality are located in various major texts of twentieth century literature anglophone as well as francophone Thus in each instance the narrative is driven by a complicated interaction of intratextuality and intertextuality What Do I Read Next? Gale Group, Barron, Barton, Steven A.
