Farm women are virtually absent from the leadership positions which structure agricultural organisations and policy and shape the industry This book examines the contemporary position of women in agriculture drawing on interviews and surveys with many hundreds of Australian women farmers bureaucrats leaders and activists and with powerful men in the industry Giving a voice to rural women the book presents a wide ranging rich tapestry of opinion and insight Feminists social scientists both researchers and students and others interested in gaining an understanding of gender relations in rural areas and organisations will find this book a fascinating read and an invaluable resource Breaking the Grass Ceiling Cheryl A. Leonhardt, 1998 As founder and president of the Business and Professional Women's Golf Association the author receives hundreds of questions each week from women trying to make golf a part of their business practices and networking systems Leonhardt shows how in Breaking the Grass Ceiling Photos illustrations Can Cows Walk Down Stairs? Paul Heiney, 2011-10-24 What is ear wax for Do bacteria have sex How do they put stripes in toothpaste Does your nose run in space What are stars made of This book answers those tantalising or perplexing questions for which you thought you'd never find an answer A book for the naturally curious as well as those seekers after scientific truths it unravels both those things we take for granted such as when you boil an egg why does the yolk stay in the middle or why is the sky blue as well as questions which probe deeply such as what does an atom look like or what was there before the beginning of time if you were to write in the dust on the moon how big would the letters have to be so you could see them from earth without a telescope Drawing on the expertise of a team of enthusiastic scientists around the world authoritative entertaining and often a touch humorous it will appeal to anyone who's ever been curious about life on earth Eiffel David I Harvie, 2006-08-24 The Eiffel Tower is perhaps the most famous tall building in the world an icon of its own age and ours It was the dream child of French engineer Gustave Eiffel along with Budapest railway station the Douro Bridge in Portugal and the interior skeleton of the Statue of Liberty In this new biography of Eiffel the first for many years David I Harvie reveals the determination struggle and drama which characterised the life of this talented man The Eiffel Tower was proposed as the centrepiece for the World Exhibition of 1889 yet the moment the plans were unveiled they were greeted with a storm of protests An influential Artists Protest was vocal in its criticism Eiffel became involved in an extended argument with Charles Garnier architect of the Paris Opera and satirists had a field day Robust in his defence of the tower Eiffel had the last laugh when completed the tower became an instant favourite and a moneyspinner Yet at the moment of his triumph scandal beckoned While the tower was being built Eiffel had signed contracts for the biggest and riskiest project of his life the construction of the locks for the Panama Canal In 1889 the canal company was plunged into liquidation due to mismanagement Eiffel was charged with breach of trust and swindling and sentenced to two years imprisonment Although cleared on appeal the engineer from Dijon never quite recovered from the personal indignity of the scandal The man who had designed and built aqueducts and bridges throughout the world turned his back on engineering and embarked on an equally illustrious career in the study of aerodynamics

Cultural Sustainability in Rural Communities Catherine Driscoll, Kate Darian-Smith, David Nichols, 2017-07-06 There has been a recent expansion of interest in cultural approaches to rural communities and to the economic and social situation of rurality more broadly This interest has been particularly prominent in Australia in recent years spurring the emergence of an interdisciplinary field called rural cultural studies This collection is framed by a large interdisciplinary research project that is part of that emergence particularly focused on what the idea of cultural sustainability might mean for understanding experiences of growth decline change and heritage in small Australian country towns However it extends beyond the initial parameters of that research bringing together a range of senior and emerging Australian researchers who offer diverse approaches to rural culture The essays collected here explore the diverse forms that rural cultural studies might take and how these intersect with other disciplinary approaches offering a uniquely diverse but also careful account of life in country Australia Yet in its emphasis on the simultaneous specificity and cross cultural recognisability of rural communities this book also outlines a field of inquiry and a set of critical strategies that are more broadly applicable to thinking about the rural in the early twenty first century This book will be valuable reading for students and academics of Geography History Literary Studies Cultural Studies Anthropology and Sociology introducing rural cultural studies as a new dynamic and integrative discipline

Breaking the Grass Ceiling Patricia Gregory, 2025-05-15 Breaking the Grass Ceiling unveils the inside story of the Women's FA tracing its creation and organisation from inception as a result of the Deal Tournament for women in 1967 to when it was formally handed over to the FA in 1993 In 1921 the FA had banned women from playing on grounds under its control but organisations interpreted this as a ban on women playing football altogether And the result was exactly that it did prevent women from playing the sport Almost fifty years later on 1 November 1969 the inaugural meeting of the Women's FA took place It was attended by forty four clubs and seven leagues forming the nucleus of the nascent association Through the steadfast efforts of many men and women the ban was finally lifted on 19 January 1970 and subsequently confirmed by the FA Council in 1971 Featuring original research behind the scenes details and personal perspectives from many of the players Patricia Gregory tells the full story for the first time She recounts the early days as a voluntary workforce fought to establish a new sport the development phase as a national cup competition and official national team were founded and the later years which dealt with the constant battle to gain and maintain recognition Breaking the Grass Ceiling highlights the unsung heroes of the past who worked tirelessly for the right of girls and women to play the game they loved and in doing so laid the foundations for the teams of the future
