Climbing The Property Ladder:

Informal Transactions of Low Income Houses in South Africa Sandile Mbatha,2022-07-04 Through a series of intricate informal processes and human centric institutional arrangements beneficiaries of South African government subsidized housing force formally registered properties into informality Sandile Mbatha explores the concept of informality in relation to how such beneficiaries challenge predominant understandings of property relations These practices are embedded in complex urban tenure dynamics that prevail in post colonial societies societies in which the state s imposition of predominantly western forms of tenure and property rights ignore the anthropological nature of housing

Housing Boom and Bust Peter King,2010-02-25 Outlining how the current crisis in housing markets has arisen this sharp analysis considers the causes of house price bubbles and the reason for the collapse in markets worldwide It explains the ways in which future booms and busts can be mitigated and how the lessons of this latest housing bubble will be finally learnt

Housing Market Renewal and Social Class Chris Allen,2008-04-24 Housing market renewal is one of the most controversial urban policy programmes of recent years Housing Market Renewal and Social Class critically examines the rationale for housing market renewal to develop high value housing markets in place of the so called failing markets of low cost housing Whose interests are served by such a programme and who loses out Drawing on empirical evidence from Liverpool the author argues that housing market renewal plays to the interests of the middle classes in viewing the market for houses as a field of social and economic opportunities a stark contrast to a working class who are more concerned with the practicalities of dwelling Against this background of these differing attitudes to the housing market Housing Market Renewal and Social Class explores the difficult question of whether institutions are now using the housing market renewal programme to make profits at the expense of ordinary working class people Reflecting on how this situation has come about the book critically examines the purpose of current housing market renewal policies and suggests directions for interested social scientists wishing to understand the implications of the programme Housing Market Renewal and Social Class provides a unique phenomenological understanding of the relationship between social class and the market for houses and will be compelling reading for anybody concerned with the situation of working class people living in UK cities

Housing Market Dynamics François Ortalo-Magné, Sven Rady, 2001

Residential Capitalism Javier Moreno Zacarés, 2024-04-23

Over the last decade Spain has become an emblem of the contradictory relationship between capitalism and housing During the house price boom of the 2000s Spain built homes on an unprecedented scale with output levels that overshadowed those of every major European economy Nevertheless when the fortunes of real estate markets turned a wave of repossessions ensued and a massive number of households were thrown out into the street as a sizeable portion of the housing stock was lying vacant In turn the implosion of Spanish residential capitalism triggered an intense wave of unrest that has come to shape a decade of political turmoil This book uses the Spanish case to bring to light and theorise the workings of residential capitalism The author traces the evolution of residential provision from the nineteenth century to the present situating the transformation of the housing market in a context of ongoing social change and conflict The book shows how the present needs to be understood by looking at the historical process through which residential provision became subsumed under the logic of capitalist accumulation but also at a long genealogy of struggles around urbanisation and housing the outcomes of which remain crystallised in Spain's urban institutions The author reveals how both residential capitalist development and urban social conflict have constituted each another casting light on the historical relationship between housing crises urban unrest and the evolution of real estate markets The book develops a historicist framework to understand residential capitalism an important contribution for an age in which real estate markets have come to determine the rhythms of global capital Addressing key issues and debates in the field including the financialisation of housing the politics of scale and urban entrepreneurialism the political economy of the Eurozone and the history of capitalist development this book will be of great interest to students and scholars of political economy as well as those engaged in crossover fields such as housing studies urban geography or financial geography
