

Giddens

■ Practical Consciousness

- It is a preconscious way to “go on in the world”, and is basically the same as Bourdieu’s habitus and doxa.

■ Monitoring of action

- Individuals constantly monitor their actions. They are knowledgeable and conscious of much of what they do, but they may not do things purposively. They sometimes do things without intending to do them, and things they do intend to do have unintended consequences.

■ Duality of Structure

- Agency is both structured, and reproduces and revitalizes the structure. This happens through time.
- Unintended consequences of actions modify future intended actions.
- This is the basis of his “theory of structuration”.
