Scott, 2024-04-23 SHORTLISTED FOR THE FINANCIAL TIMES AND SCHRODERS BUSINESS BOOK OF THE YEAR A manifesto to guide the longevity revolution David Sinclair for individuals institutions and society to adapt to the reality of living longer lives Thanks to increases in life expectancy we can now expect to live for a long time Most of us would welcome an extra day in the week so why do so many of us view the prospect of additional years with fear and skepticism The reason is simple society is not currently structured to support long lives Rather than thinking in terms of the needs of a rising number of older people we must instead support the young and middle aged to prepare differently for the longer futures they can expect The Longevity Imperative outlines the innovations needed to make the most of these longer lives substantial changes to our health system economy and financial sector as well as in how we manage our careers health finances and relationships Instead of seeing longevity as a problem economist Andrew J Scott challenges us to view it as an opportunity

This book charts a course to address the individual social political economic and cultural changes required so that all of us regardless of age can live lives that are not just longer but healthier happier and more productive

Rising income inequality has been at the forefront of public debate in Canada in recent years yet there is still much to learn about the economic forces driving the distribution of earnings and income in this country and how they might evolve in the future With research showing that the tax and transfer system is losing the ability to counteract income disparity the need for policy makers to understand the factors at play is all the more urgent

Income Inequality provides a comprehensive review of Canadian inequality trends including changing earnings and income dynamics among the middle class and top earners wage and job polarization across provinces and persistent poverty among vulnerable groups

The Institute for Research on Public Policy IRPP in collaboration with the Canadian Labour Market and Skills Researcher Network CLSRN presents new evidence by some of the country s leading experts on the impact of skills and education unionization and labour relations laws as well as the complex interplay of redistributive policies and politics over time

Amid growing anxieties about the economic prospects of the middle class

Income Inequality will serve to inform the public discourse on inequality an issue that ultimately concerns all Canadians

The Super Age Bradley Schurman,2022-01-18 A demographic futurist explains the coming Super Age when there will be more people older than sixty five than those under the age of eighteen and explores what it could mean for our collective future

Societies all over the world are getting older the result of the fact that we are living longer and having fewer children

At some point in the near future much of the developed world will have at least twenty percent of their national populations over the age of sixty five Bradley Schurman calls this the Super Age Today Italy Japan and Germany have already reached the Super Age and another ten countries will have gone over the tipping point in 2021 Thirty five countries will be part of this club by the end of the decade This seismic shift in the world population can portend a period of tremendous growth or leave swaths of us behind Schurman explains how changing demographics will affect government and business and touch all of our lives Fewer people working and paying income taxes due to outdated employment and retirement practices could mean less money feeding popular programs such as Social Security and Medicare with greater numbers relying on them The forced retirement or redundancy of older workers could impact business by creating a shortage of workers which would likely drive wages up and result in inflation Corporations too must rethink marketing strategies older consumers are already purchasing the majority of new cars and they are a growing and vitally important market for health technologies and housing Architects and designers must re create homes and communities that are more inclusive of people of all ages and abilities If we aren t prepared for the changes to come Schurman warns we face economic stagnation increased isolation of at risk populations and accelerated decline of rural communities Instead we can plan now to harness the benefits of the Super Age extended and healthier lives more generational cooperation at work and home and new markets and products to explore The choice is ours to make
