Gibby,2021-01-12 A historical analysis of the policies and military strategies applied during the Korean War stalemate period Winner of the 2023 Andrew F Krepinevich Jr Writing Award Korean Showdown National Policy and Military Strategy in a Limited War 1951 1952 takes a holistic and integrative approach to strategy operations and tactics during the Korean War stalemate period and demonstrates how these matters shaped each other and influenced or were influenced by political and strategic policy decision making Bryan R Gibby offers an analysis of the major political and military decisions affecting how the war was conducted operationally and diplomatically by examining American Chinese North Korean and South Korean operations in the context of fighting a limited war with limited means but for objectives that were not always limited in scope or ambition The foundational political decision was Harry Truman s voluntary repatriation policy which extended the war by up to eighteen months Its military counterpart was the American led Operation Showdown the last deliberate military offensive to coerce concessions at the negotiation table Showdown s failure and the Communists own equally disappointing military efforts opened up new avenues for solving the war short of a militarily imposed solution Gibby s research draws on primary sources from American Korean and Chinese archives and publications Many of these sources have not yet been mined in diplomatic and military histories of the Korean War This innovative book also addresses a significant gap in the study of Korean military operations the linkage between ground and air pressure campaigns as well as the many Chinese and

American operations conducted to establish negotiation positions Gibby also explores many political and propagandist developments that assumed great importance in the summer of 1952 such as prisoner of war riots the bombing of hydroelectric dams and the South Korean constitutional crisis which significantly influenced American and Chinese military decision making Ultimately this volume serves as a cautionary analysis of the limits of force the necessity to understand an adversary and the importance of strategic consensus It also offers an effective case study on an underappreciated period of civil military tension during the Cold War and on how civilian politicians and military leaders must collaborate to determine a realistic and effective strategy

Combat Support in Korea Cpt. John G. Westover,2017-01-12 One of the cherished beliefs of those who do not know is that the logistical services of the Army lead a safe and boring life even in the combat zone The Combat Engineers and the Signal Corps began to cloud this belief in World War I The Medical Corps the Chemical Corps and the Bomb Disposal squads of the Ordnance Corps began to demand respect as dangerous assignments in World War II In Korea all the services won the right to be shot at War becomes increasingly a matter of logistics The thin cutting edge of infantry armor and artillery still contains the larger proportion of heroes dead and alive but these combat arms depend more and more on the services to provide them not only with the traditional beans and bullets but with gasoline transportation medical service concealing smoke communications equipment graves registration potable water laundry service the list is endless Here are some true accounts that tell how the services fulfilled their missions in a tough and dirty little war There are tales of devotion to duty that match those of any combat arm There are roles of technical proficiency combined with the foresight to seize opportunities as they arose But because these are true stories there are descriptions of actions whose only value is to indicate what should not be done what lack of preparedness means in lives and dollars Here is an honest book one that had to be honest because it was conceived to tell the whole truth for the education of our army This is a book for every soldier every youth who might become a soldier every parent of every such youth He succeeded and the fruit of his labors is here
