Amorosos Fantasmas:

Amorosos Fantasmas Paco Ignacio Taibo, II, 1994-04 "Amorous Ghosts" by Paco Ignacio Taibo II Shevon Porter, 2014
This thesis is a translation into English of Paco Ignacio Taibo II's Mexican detective novel Amorosos fantasmas. The approach used in translating was in line with Lawrence Venuti's concept of foreignization. This approach was employed in favor of a more common style of domestication. Foreignization allows the translated text to retain some linguistic and cultural elements that are important or distinctive in the source text. In doing so it evokes a feeling of foreignness. The reader of this translation may feel aware that he or she is reading a book that was not originally written in English; it is intentionally less fluent than a domesticated translation would be. Transatlantic Mysteries William J. Nichols, 2011 Transatlantic Mysteries presents a comparative study that brings together authors Paco Ignacio Taibo II and Manuel Vázquez Montalbán from two specific political contexts: post-1968 Mexico and post-Franco Spain, who both work in one specific genre: noir detective fiction. In this so-called age of globalization, Spain and Mexico have witnessed an explosion in the production of noir detective fiction, which these authors choose purposefully in order to infiltrate the market with formulaic popular literature while simultaneously critiquing the effects of the neoliberal strategies embraced by their countries. By locating themselves at the crossroads where literature meets the market, they not only underscore the effects of capital on literary and cultural production but also explore the possibility for their writing to resist the influences of capital and question the role of an intellectual in an era of globalization. At the core of their writing, Taibo and Vázquez Montalbán examine the revolutionary possibilities of literature and popular culture to offer a new kind of Marxist project that revitalizes the Left by redefining the role of socially engaged literature in a globalized landscape. Subverting Sex, Gender, and Genre in Cuban and Mexican Detective Fiction Ailsa Peate, 2024-09-25 The presence of bodies and sex in detective fiction has been a long-term feature of this internationally popular genre. Titillation is at the centre of narratives reliant upon discovery and revelation; motives and criminals are slowly revealed along with sexualized and violated bodies, from femmes fatales to the corpses of victims. A satisfying, gratifying genre for its readership, the detective novel promises the disruption and subsequent restoration of order in societies tarnished by disillusionment, which hope for a better future. This book takes as its focus examples of detective fiction from Cuba and Mexico during or in the aftermath of huge social upheaval: the Special Period and the War on Drugs, analyzing representations of sexualities, bodies, and the genre itself. Through an investigation of novels by Leonardo Padura and Amir Valle of Cuba and Belfrage and Rogelio Guedea of Mexico, this work investigates increasingly fluid sexualities and bodies in challenging examples of metaphysical detective fiction, a particularly anxious subgenre which challenges both the structures and limits of the detective novel and the reader's understanding of true and false, and right and wrong, representative of troubling periods of severe social disruption for Cuba and Mexico. Marx and Freud in Latin America Bruno Bosteels, 2012-08-21 This book assesses the untimely relevance of Marx and Freud for Latin American thinkers alien to the region who became an inspiration to its beleaguered activists intellectuals writers and artists during times of political and cultural oppression Bruno Bosteels presents ten case studies arguing that art and literature the novel poetry theatre film more than any militant tract or theoretical essay can give us a glimpse into Marxism and psychoanalysis not so much as sciences of history or of the unconscious respectively but rather as two intricately related modes of understanding the formation of subjectivity
