The system of species of African bipedal primates from 6.2-0.9 mya Sergey Vyrskiy,2022-01-29 Here we report the establishment of a family relation system between the species of African bipedal primates observed in deposits from 6.2 to 0.9 million years ago mya For this purpose the author presents a single method of assigning diagnostic weight when conducting character assessment of fossilized remains and has also formulated several equations and ratios that make use of morphometric measurements and can be used to predict the crucial parameters of paleontological individuals such as body weight endocranial volume and cerebral index and identify their diet Having simultaneously considered all the morphometric descriptions of the bone remains of bipedal primates and by a single method of character evaluation having established the degree of their affinity the author reconstructed the phyletic lines uniting almost all diagnostically significant samples and systematized paleoanthropological material of the 6.2-0.9 mya period The evaluation of the phyletic associated fossils in compliance with the Biological Species Concept E Mayr revealed the existence of only two species of bipedal primates in the African continent at the beginning of the period under consideration Later a new third species emerged the formation of which correlated with the exponential increase in the cerebral index and the advent of the first stone tools African Musical Aesthetics John Murungi,2011-05-25 In the West philosophy is generally confined to the domain of the intellect and music to the domain of the emotion This book makes either domain the location for the other African musical aesthetics constitutes this location and has its home in it Moreover since the separation of the domain of the intellect and the domain of emotion represents a bifurcation of what it is to be a human being and by making either domain the location of the other what African musical aesthetics accomplishes is the affirmation of a unified sense of what it is to be a human being Accordingly the unity of philosophy and music give rises to a unified sense of being human It is to such unity that African musical aesthetics takes us For African musical aesthetics to accomplish this task this book challenges the conventional Western understanding of philosophy an understanding that projects Africa as devoid of philosophy It is this projection that pervaded Africa during the colonial period and it is the projection that is challenged in African philosophy From an African philosophical perspective African musical aesthetics turns out to be an emancipatory process that seeks to affirm the humanity of Africans but also a process that seeks to affirm common humanity Music is not solely a matter of audiology what is played or what one dances to It has its elemental task in calling our attention to what we are as human beings In so far as it is sensuous it constitutes us as members of the sensible world and links us intrinsically to all that is sensuous It is more than humanism Music registers us as members of nature It is nature naturing Philosophy and the Modern African American Freedom Struggle , Anthony Sean Neal,2022-07-20 Philosophy and the Modern African American Freedom Struggle A Freedom Gaze describes the ideas that defined the movement and struggle to be free by Black people in the United States during their Modern Era Using a historical perspective this work engages the question of how the historical experience of oppression and the denial of humanity created space for the development of a certain consciousness The existence and demonstration of agency within the ideas of the African diaspora and the creation of an intentional community with the aim of defining and attaining freedom are dissected in order to understand the Black community as a whole during the modern era This book was nominated for the 2023 Mississippi Institute of Arts and Letters Award in nonfiction
