

A man and a woman are sitting at a table, looking thoughtful. The man is on the left, resting his head on his hand, and the woman is on the right, looking off to the side. They are both wearing light-colored sweaters. The background is a bright, out-of-focus window.

Counselling For Progressive Disability:

Counselling for Progressive Disability Richard Bryant-Jefferies, 2018-12-14 Coming to terms with a progressive disabling disease can be a struggle not only for the personal nature of pain but the stressful impact that it can have on family and friends This book sets out to provide the reader with an experience of working with a person suffering progressive disability both in the early stages and at an advanced and more disabling stage from a person centred theoretical perspective Using fictitious dialogue it provides a real insight into what can occur during counselling sessions based on case studies at different stages of a progressive disabling disease Reflections on the process and points for discussion are included to stimulate further thought and debate and supervision as well as counselling is covered to aid further professional development Counselling for Progressive Disability person centred dialogues will be of value to many health and social care professionals who work with people with progressive disability Women, Disability and Mental Distress Julia L.T.

Smith, 2016-02-17 Over recent decades an increasing amount of attention has been paid to identifying and meeting the individual support needs of mental health service users and people with physical impairments in the UK Evidence of this can be seen within the literature that considers mental health and physical impairment from a wide range of perspectives as well as the increased range of service provision for individuals within both categories However the support needs of individuals who fall into both categories have largely been overlooked by social care and health service providers practitioners and organisations for whom the main focus is either mental health or physical impairment The lack of attention that has been given in theory and in practice to the mental health support needs of disabled women who experience mental distress has resulted in an insufficient knowledge base of how to support disabled women who may require some form of mental health support For this group of women this has meant that their needs have arguably continued to be neglected and subsequently left unmet Writing from her position as both a social worker and a service user Julia Smith has written an innovative and important text which both discusses a neglected area of personal experience and makes an original contribution to knowledge with regard to both policy and practice Stem Cell Therapy for Autoimmune Disease Richard K.

Burt, 2019-11-11 Stem cell transplantation may be complicated by treatment related mortality and like the immune system that it regenerates has equal potential to either create and preserve or destroy The dual nature that defines stem cells is differentiation that ultimately leads to death and self renewal which leads to immortality What types of stem cells are there How are they collected What are their attributes and characteristics This textbook devotes many chapters to familiarize the reader with the basic science clinical aspects and new questions being raised in the field of stem cell biology Blood stem cells for tolerance and tissue regeneration are a rapidly developing research and clinical field that is being applied to autoimmune diseases In clinical trials autologous hematopoietic blood stem cells are being used to reduce the cytopenic interval following intense immune suppressive transplant regimens While as yet not delineated some possible mechanisms and pathways leading to tolerance after hematopoietic stem cell transplantation are suggested in these chapters Tissue regeneration from blood stem cells is also suggested by animal experiments on stem cell plasticity or metamorphosis i e change in fate as described within this textbook Ongoing early clinical trials on tissue regeneration from blood stem cells are described in the chapter on stem cell therapy for cardiac and peripheral vascular disease Whether autologous hematopoietic stem cells through the process of mobilization and reinfusion may be manipulated to contribute to tissue repair in autoimmune diseases is a future area for translational research
