Count Lucanor Don Juan Manuel,2020-09-15 Book Excerpt onio proceeded There was in Cordova a Moorish king named Alhaquima who governed his kingdom well he studied to act with honor to himself and justice to others indeed he did all that was required of good kings not only in guarding their kingdoms but in augmenting their territories with the view that they might receive the praises of their people and after death be remembered for their good deeds Yet this king gave himself up to a life of luxury and enjoyment vice and disorder reigning in his palace Now it happened as they played before him on an instrument which the Moors liked very much and which they called Albogon that the king perceived that it did not sound as well as it ought so he took the instrument and made a hole at the lower part of it but in the same direction as the other holes and since that time the Albogon has given a much better sound than before Now although this cannot be considered but as an improvement yet it was not an act suited to the dignity of aClose     Count Lucanor; Or, the Fifty Pleasant Stories of Patronio Juan Manuel,2013-09 This historic book may have numerous typos and missing text Purchasers can usually download a free scanned copy of the original book without typos from the publisher Not indexed Not illustrated 1889 edition Excerpt he finds himself incapable of so doing The Count considering this to be very good advice acted upon it and found the results to answer well And Don Juan understanding that this was a good example had it inscribed in this book and composed the following verse The good occasion use it Lest through delay you lose it NOTES The above tale resembles not a little the facetious style generally adopted by the Archpriest of Hita Juan Ruiz famous for his satirical writings and a contemporary of Don Juan Manuel and by Rabelais These two writers were particularly noted for their satirical allegories The cardinal in his refined satire not only lanced a tacit condemnation against the indolence of the canons but against also the arbitrary and unjust claim set up by them in contesting with an inferior class that right to which industry and early rising clearly entitled them CHAPTER XX Of that which happened to a Falcon and a Heron and more particularly to a cunning Falcon which belonged to the Infant Don Manuel OUNT LUCANOR conversed one day with his counsellor Patronio in the manner following Patronio said he it has happened lately to me to have contentions with many men and no sooner is one quarrel ended than I am by some one instigated to commence another others again recommend me to rest and be at peace while again others wish me to renew the war with the Moors Now knowing that no one is better able than yourself to advise me I pray that you will counsel me how best to act under these circumstances My lord said Patronio in order that you may the better act with judgment it would be well that you should know what happened to a cunning falcon belonging to     Count Lucanor Juan Manuel (Infante of Castile),1868     The Determinants of Diachronic Stability Anne Breitbarth,Miriam Bouzouita,Lieven Danckaert,Melissa Farasyn,2019-03-20 While much of the literature has focused on explaining diachronic variation and change the fact that sometimes change does not seem to happen has received much less attention The current volume unites ten contributions that look for the determinants of diachronic stability mainly in the areas of morphology and morpho syntax The relevant question is approached from different angles both empirical and theoretical Empirically the contributions deal with the absence of change where one may expect it uncover underlying stability where traditionally diachronic change was postulated and inversely superficial stability that disguises underlying change Determining factors ranging from internal causes to language contact are explored Theoretically the questions of whether stable variation is possible and how it can be modeled are addressed The volume will be of interest to linguists working on the causes of language change and to scholars working on the history of Germanic Romance and Sinitic languages Spanish Literature Alexander Frederic Foster,1851
