Discourse And Power In Educational Organizations Understanding Education And Policy:

Discourse and Power in Educational Organizations David Corson, 1995 In today's post modern and post traditional institutions power is mainly exercised through the generation of consent through the distribution of ideologies and through the subtle indoctrination of self disciplining practices rather than through the use of force or brute authority This change in the nature of institutional practices focuses the role that language has always had in the exercise of power To address the topic as it affects educational organisations the editor combines two central traditions in contemporary social science inquiry concern for the post modern and post positivist condition of the contemporary world and concern for the praxis of critical theory Contributors to the book's 14 chapters approach their topics from either or both of these traditions In his introductions to the two parts of the book the editor suggests how these traditions can combine and at the same time respond to the challenges of educational concerns within the post modern condition This book's style and content should appeal to students and researchers in educational research curriculum studies policy studies and educational administration The authors are all noted for their contributions to the analysis of discourse and its power coordinates They will introduce some readers to new worlds the worlds of teacher supervision female leadership critical language awareness the signing deaf and minority outgroups

International Handbook of Educational Leadership and Administration Kenneth A.

Leithwood, Judith Chapman, P. Corson, P. Hallinger, Ann Hart, 2012-12-06 EDITORS This introduction to the International Handbook of Educational Leadership and Administration describes some of the motivation for developing the book and several assumptions on which is based much of the work represented in its 31 chapters A synopsis of the contents of those chapters is also provided SOME KEY ASSUMPTIONS It is sometimes suggested that the search for an adequate understanding of leadership is doomed to fail After all there is little evidence of agreement about the concept in spite of prodigious efforts dating back hundreds if not thousands of years Such a view is captured for example in Bennis observation that Of all the hazy and confounding areas in social psychology leadership theory undoubtedly contends for top nomination Probably more has been written and less is known about leadership than any other topic in the behavioural sciences 1959 page 259 We do not find this state of affairs discouraging nor entirely accurate and of course it did not prevent Bennis from proceeding either One reason for our desire to continue in the face of such discouraging words is that a great deal of leadership research aspires to develop a general theory a theory which applies to all or most domains of organized human activity This aspiration inevitably produces decontextualized and therefore abstract categories of practice Howard Gardner's 1995 depiction of leadership as story telling is a case in point Educational Reform Jordan T. Ville, 2001 This book brings together the literature in a field which may define the 21st century Can economic and technological progress continue with educational systems which seem to answer to no one but themselves and which output graduates who can barely read and write and who have only the faintest clue how to use a map This bibliography provides access via Title Author and Subject

Indexes Contents Educational Accountability Educational Change Educational Equalisation Educational Leadership Educational Planning Educational Indicates Education Policy Mark Olssen, John A. Codd, Anne-Marie O'Neill, 2004-06-30 Providing an international perspective on education policy and of the role and function of education in the global economy this text covers the major topics of central significance in education and the sociology of education Agency in Language Policy and Planning: Jeremie Bouchard, Gregory Paul Glasgow, 2018-12-21 This collection brings together theory and ethnographic research from a range of national contexts to offer unique insights into the nature of agency in language policy and planning Situated within a broader sociological framework the book explores agentive processes at work in case studies from around the world engaging in discussions of such key themes as language and identity language ideologies linguistic diversity in education and language revitalization Each chapter examines the ways in which decisions made at both the local and national level impact language use and in turn the dynamic relationship between language use policy and practice in these contexts Taken together this volume advances our understanding of agency in language policy and planning and directions for future research making this key reading for students and scholars in language and education critical sociolinguistics and applied linguistics The Democratic Classroom Arthur Pearl, Tony Knight, 1999 This text argues that difficult problems can not be solved without a democratic process Essential to the resolution of such problems is a reconstructed school that prepares students to become effective problem solvers and informed responsible democratic citizens Assessment and Control at Parkview School Hilary A. Radnor, 1996 Schools are a prominent part of contemporary society's formal organisation of education The overriding expectation on education is to provide the young person with the tools to be successful in a dynamically ever changing world As society changes so too does society's expectations of schools State maintained institutions dependent on the state for their survival are subject to the prevailing beliefs and values that drive the economic political and educational systems through which society is organised This interpretive study investigates the process of implementation of externally imposed educational change Its central core is a finely detailed empirical case study that offers insights into the meaning of educational change by coming to an understanding of the ideologies values and attitudes of key participants a group of teachers who reveal why they act the way they do when faced with management directives to make changes to their professional working practices The theme of the book is articulated by the question that weaves through the study how do individuals manage to retain a sense of freedom with constraints imposed on them The approach adopted shares the perspective known as policy ethnography which stresses the problematic nature of implementation viewing it as an active process whereby individuals engaged in the act of implementation interpret reinterpret reform and reconstruct the policy ideas when actively putting them into practice or into use The Social Construction of Urban Schooling Luis F. Mirón, 1996 This text explores the possibilities for the reconstruction of urban schooling The author urges a rethinking of the concept of urban education and a theory of the relationships between urban processes and urban schooling American Book Publishing Record ,1995 Algorithmic Power Warfare, Governance, and Global Stability in the Digital Age Artur Victoria,2026-02-20 Debates about the future of work have intensified as artificial intelligence automation globalization demographic shifts environmental transition and evolving defence and warfare technologies reshape economic and strategic landscapes While public discourse often oscillates between optimism about innovation and pessimism about job loss and instability this text argues that neither extreme fully explains how work evolves Historical experience shows that technological change tends to transform occupations including military security and defence roles rather than eliminate the need for human expertise The text emphasizes that labour market outcomes depend less on technology itself than on institutional adaptation including governance education reform corporate responsibility defence preparedness and social protection systems Emerging sectors such as sustainability care services digital infrastructure and security technologies offer opportunities though risks like inequality skills gaps and geopolitical tensions remain Ultimately it calls for a renewed social contract integrating ethical technological governance lifelong learning economic resilience and security awareness to sustain both prosperity and stability Making Meaning of Community in an American High School Kathleen Knight Abowitz,2000 This is a case study of a public high school in the midst of school reform conflict and change The volume analyzes liberal communitarian debates engaging from a methodology that attempts to understand how the idea of community in a public school is actually constructed Values-spoken and Values-lived Maike Philipsen,1999 This ethnography depicts the cultural consequences of a local school closing in a small rural predominantly black community It shows how the dynamics of the community deepen fundamental contradictions between strong beliefs in education values spoken and actual conduct values lived Talking about a Revolution Cheryl L. Sattler,1997 This text provides a qualitative inquiry into the politics and practice of feminist teaching It weaves together theoretical feminist writings with the lives of feminist women teachers revealing a complex interplay among feminist identity and the organization of the high school and university From Nihilism to Possibility Frederick L. Yeo,Barry Kanpol,1999 This text advocates theory and practice for the transformation of inner city education through the development and application of critical principles grounded in the postmodern the moral and possibility The contributors argue for the construction of a more democratic praxis for urban education The Power of Resistance Rowhea M. Elmesky,Carol Camp Yeakey,Olivia C.
