Discourse Structure And Anaphora Written And Conversational English:

Discourse Structure and Anaphora Barbara A. Fox,1993-02-11 This thoughtful study presenting a novel analytical framework examines the use of anaphora in both written and conversational discourse In particular it examines the distribution of pronouns and full noun phrases in three different genres of English and demonstrates the relationships between the hierarchical structure of discourses and the use of anaphoric phrases within those discourses Discourse Structure and Anaphora in Written and Conversational English Barbara A. Fox,1984 Theoretical Syntax 1980-1990 Rosemarie Whitney Ostler,1992-02-13 This volume is intended to be used by practicing scholars as well as students It represents all major and some of the minor trends that have evolved during the past decade Book titles from all available sources have been included as well as periodical articles from the major journals whenever there was evidence of a theoretical approach To ensure maximum accessibility of the entries listed books and articles in language other than English and unpublished dissertations and working papers have been excluded All entries are fully annotated and the volume is completed by indices of authors and subjects Discourse Studies: Discourse as structure and process Teun A. van Dijk,1997 What are the structures of discourse and what are the functions of these structures in the communicative context This volume explains how and why discourse is organized at various levels The multidisciplinary contributions illustrate that discourse analysis goes far beyond the linguistic answer of designing grammars and goes hand in hand with the study of their uses and functions in the social context Comprehensive and accessible the volume covers a huge variety of discourse genres including written and spoken and storytelling and argumentation The chapters also illustrate the necessity to examine the mental processes of the language users How do people go about producing understanding and remembering text or talk

Reference and Referent Accessibility Thorstein Fretheim, Jeanette K. Gundel, 1996-01-01 The papers in this volume are concerned with the question of how a speaker's intended referent is interpreted by the addressee Topics include the interpretation of coreferential vs disjoint reference the role of intonation syntactic form and animacy in reference understanding and the way in which general principles of utterance interpretation constrain possible interpretations of referring expressions The collection arises from a workshop on reference and referent accessibility which was held at the 4th International Pragmatics Conference in Kobe Japan July 25-30 1993

Alternative Linguistics Philip W. Davis, 1996-01-31 The papers in this volume were presented at the Fifth Biennial Symposium of the Department of Linguistics Rice University March 1993 The participants were asked to concentrate in depth and in a self-reflective way upon some range of data The intent was multifold The first purpose was descriptive It was expected that the participants would carry out their task in a retrospective way exemplifying and building upon their previous work but it was also expected that they would begin to demonstrate the configuration of some area in a more comprehensive picture of language The point was to take at least one substantive step in the depiction of what we think language will ultimately be like The contributions were both specific and generalizing with focus as much upon methodology as upon hypotheses about language In examining descriptive practice we continued to concentrate upon issues which concerned us all and at the same time we tried to advance the discourse by the results of such description We hoped that problematic and recalcitrant data would make our own practice clearer to us and that it might also instruct us in the refinement of our conceptions of language
