Diseases Finding The Cure:

All Creation Groans Daniel W. O'Neill, Beth Snodderly, 2021-05-18 In a suffering world reeling from global pandemics and health disparities it is high time to think theologically about the devastating experience of disease and to address our God inspired responsibility to understand its origins and engage in its management In a fragmented world we need a unifying and integrated perspective on people in communities embedded in a fractured ecology In an academic world blind to the spiritual world and imbalanced toward technical solutions the global church must articulate a contemporary metanarrative that is moral practical and deeply transformational All Creation Groans brings together multiple perspectives for a compelling global health approach to the pathologies of the world as a part of the missio Dei The authors paint a unifying perspective on God's healing intentions in creation redemption and consummation and the opposing nature corrupting effects of the rebellion of created moral agents It is a fresh call for the global church to engage in aligning with God's healing action for eternally sustainable global health

New Path to Real Cures for Chronic Diseases: Jianqing Wu, Ping Zha, In this book we prove that medicine has failed to find cures for chronic diseases and failed to address its failures in the last 145 years We previously demonstrated that diseases studied under current medical models are remote from what is going on in the human body Medicine could not change it In more than a century medicine repeats the same errors in treatment of diseases To explore a new path to cures we have included our disease theories on chronic diseases new research models and required infrastructures Our disease theories tell that both disease progress and disease reversal are very slow processes Due to the slowness of changes a great cure is interfered by a large number of factors and the CNS Thus randomized controlled trials most probably produce meaningless or misleading findings Great cures are not what medical science can detect One of our subjects concerns human lifespans and the organ's functional reserve It implies that drug side effects cannot be studied by observing symptoms which can be seen only after organ functions have been depressed near the disability level Thus harmful side effects are not what medicine can always tell
