Disinflation In Transition Economies:

Disinflation in Transition Economies Ms.Sharmini Coorey,Mr.Mauro Mecagni,Mr.Erik Offerdal,1996-12-01 In light of the persistence of moderate inflation in many transition economies this paper analyzes whether inflation resulted from insufficiently tight financial policies and wage pressures or from the protracted adjustment of relative prices Using a new database for 21 countries the effect of relative price variability on inflation is estimated within a framework controlling for nominal and real shocks Money and wage growth were the most important determinants of inflation relative price variability had a sizable effect at high inflation during initial liberalization and a small effect at moderate inflation Cost recovery may contribute to variability particularly in the advanced stages of the transition

Disinflation in Transition Economies Sharmini Coorey,2006 In light of the persistence of moderate inflation in many transition economies this paper analyzes whether inflation resulted from insufficiently tight financial policies and wage pressures or from the protracted adjustment of relative prices Using a new database for 21 countries the effect of relative price variability on inflation is estimated within a framework controlling for nominal and real shocks Money and wage growth were the most important determinants of inflation relative price variability had a sizable effect at high inflation during initial liberalization and a small effect at moderate inflation Cost recovery may contribute to variability particularly in the advanced stages of the transition

Moderate Inflation Mr.Carlo Cottarelli,Mr.Gyorgy Szapary,1998-07-01 Many countries including several transition economies have in the last few years recorded a sharp decline in inflation but have been unable to bring inflation down to lower single digits or to achieve price stability In these countries inflation has stabilized at moderate levels with further progress becoming seemingly more difficult What are the problems created by moderate inflation What is the appropriate speed of disinflation These and other issues related to disinflation in transition economies are taken up in this book edited by Carlo Cottarelli and Gyorgy Szapary

Observations on Disinflation in Transition Economies Paul Wachtel,Iikka Korhonen,2004 The transition economies were remarkably successful in curbing the inflation that took place after the initial transition and shocks and more recently most of the countries have brought inflation down to the levels found in major developed countries In this paper we review the experiences and show how fiscal discipline monetary policy and exchange rate policy contributed to the outcome In addition we note that the influence of EU accession on institutions and policy may have played an important role The paper also surveys the literature on the quality of the inflation data the extent to which necessary relative price adjustments have occurred and the size of the Balassa Samuelson effect Case studies of disinflation in four countries are presented Poland Romania Estonia and Russia Published in Monetary Policy in Low Inflation Economies ed by David E Altig and Ed Nosal Cambridge University Press forthcoming in 2006

Disinflation in Transition Economies Marek Dabrowski,2003-01-01 The authors of this outstanding scholarly work analyze the dynamics of disinflation in transition economies in Central and Eastern Europe The volume covers all the key factors of this process changes in money supply and money demand exchange rate policy currency crisis fiscal policy legal status of central banks monetary policy strategy changes in relative prices and changes in nominal and real wages The book contains 13 chapters related to various aspects of disinflation and covering different sets of transition countries depending on their relevance to the analyzed topic and data availability Disinflation in Transition Mr. Carlo Cottarelli, Mr. Peter Doyle, 1999-08-23 The latest in a series of papers published by the International Monetary Fund on economies in transition examines the experience of disinflation in Central and Eastern Europe the Baltics Russia and other countries of the former Soviet Union between 1993 and 1997 The paper reviews the economic policies underlying the dramatic drop in inflation during those years as well as other variables that facilitated the disinflation and notes that the adjustment of fiscal fundamentals as the driving force behind the disinflation while nominal anchoring arrangements played a less prominent role This was contrary to developments in countries for example in Latin America that had experienced high inflation for a long period of time Fiscal Policy and Disinflation in Transition Economies Małgorzata Markiewicz, 1999 Designing Disinflation Programs in Transition Economies Sharmini Coorey, Mauro Mecagni, Erik Offerdal, 1997 Economic Dynamics in Transitional Economies Bruno Sergi, 2020-07-24 Learn more about the transitional economies of Central and Eastern Europe This book examines the economic dynamics of Central and Eastern European post Communist countries It illuminates the paths these countries are taking toward restructuring their markets increasing international trade and bettering their connections with the European Union and other countries Beginning with a comparative analysis of the three P governments Pigouvian Partizan and Paternalistic and continuing with a discussion of the interrelated political and economic difficulties of transition author Bruno Sergi proposes a surprising solution Inspired by the Bruxelles consensus he proposes that the European Commission should become a fourth P government replacing the role formerly played by the Washington consensus in the restructuring of post Communist economies Economic Dynamics in Transitional Economies also explores regional comparative macroeconomics the aftereffects of the Washington Consensus integration of Eastern and Western European economies interrelations between national and regional monetary activity political and economic policy reform involvement of European Union member countries We are living in historic times and Economic Dynamics in Transitional Economies will be a welcome guide to the rough roads ahead This thorough assessment of current political and economic realities will stimulate debate about new European paradigms the role of the European Union and the difficulties of post Communist transition These issues promise to be vital to the region's success in the new century Monetary Policy in Low-Inflation Economies David E. Altig, Ed Nosal, 2009-07-31 The essays in this volume investigate the challenges of transitioning to lower levels of inflation and conducting monetary policy in low inflation economies The essays make both theoretical and empirical contributions Disinflation in Transition: 1993-1997 Mr. Peter Doyle, Mr. Carlo Cottarelli, 1999-08-23 The latest in a series of papers published by the International Monetary Fund on economies in transition examines the experience of disinflation in Central and Eastern Europe the Baltics Russia and other countries of the former Soviet Union between 1993 and 1997 The paper reviews the economic policies underlying the dramatic drop in inflation during those years as well as other variables that facilitated the disinflation and notes that the adjustment of fiscal fundamentals as the driving force behind the disinflation while nominal anchoring arrangements played a less prominent role This was contrary to developments in countries for example in Latin America that had experienced high inflation for a long period of time From Inflation to Growth Mr.Peter Doyle,Mr.Peter F. Christoffersen,1998-07-01 This paper reexamines growth in transition using panel data to 1997 It suggests that output has been strongly affected by export market growth that inflation has been associated with weaker output only above a threshold inflation rate that structural reform has been associated with weaker output initially but that it stimulates higher growth thereafter and that rapid disinflation has been associated with output losses only in the presence of pegged exchange rates International Economic Policy Review, Volume 1 Mr.Paul R Masson,Mr.Timothy D. Lane,Ms.Padma Gotur,1999-09-28 This series aims to make available to the general public and to economic policy practitioners a selection of policy papers prepared by the staff of the International Monetary Fund Papers in the International Economic Policy Review will offer specific policy relevant analysis but at a relatively non technical level These papers are intended to provide analytical background for IMF supported programs and more generally to shed light on a range of policy choices facing ministries and central banks Disinflation Strategies in Transition Economies Aibek Baibagysh-Uulu,1999 Monetary Policy Strategy Frederic S. Mishkin,2009-08-21 A leading academic authority and policymaker discusses monetary policy strategy from the perspectives of both scholar and practitioner offering theory econometric evidence and extensive case studies This book by a leading authority on monetary policy offers a unique view of the subject from the perspectives of both scholar and practitioner Frederic Mishkin is not only an academic expert in the field but also a high level policymaker He is especially well positioned to discuss the changes in the conduct of monetary policy in recent years in particular the turn to inflation targeting Monetary Policy Strategy describes his work over the last ten years offering published papers new introductory material and a summing up Everything You Wanted to Know about Monetary Policy Strategy But Were Afraid to Ask which reflects on what we have learned about monetary policy over the last thirty years Mishkin blends theory econometric evidence and extensive case studies of monetary policy in advanced and emerging market and transition economies Throughout his focus is on these key areas the importance of price stability and a nominal anchor fiscal and financial preconditions for achieving price stability central bank independence as an additional precondition central bank accountability the rationale for inflation targeting the optimal inflation target central bank transparency and communication and the role of asset prices in monetary policy Moderate Inflation Mr.Carlo Cottarelli,Mr.Gyorgy Szapary,1998-07-01 Many countries including several transition economies have in the last few years recorded a sharp decline in inflation but have been unable to bring inflation down to lower single digits or to achieve price stability In these countries inflation has stabilized at moderate levels with further progress becoming seemingly more difficult What are the problems created by moderate inflation What is the appropriate speed of disinflation These and other issues related to disinflation in transition economies are taken up in this book edited by Carlo Cottarelli and Gyorgy Szap ry Monetary and Exchange Rate Policies, EMU and Central and Eastern Europe David K. H. Begg,László Halpern,Charles Wyplosz,1999 This report examines European transition economies and their need to find a robust strategy for macroeconomic policy in the period leading up to accession and in preparation for joining EMU IMF Working Paper ,1996 Post-Soviet Geography and Economics ,2000 The Gratis Economy András Kelen,2001-01-11 Deals with the logic of toll free services in all three sectors government business and nonprofit and generalizes the notion of voluntary work towards everthing that is free of charge
