An Autumn Tale:

Mabel Cheung Yuen-Ting's An Autumn's Tale Stacilee Ford, 2008-04-01 This study of An Autumn's Tale argues that Hong Kong films are a window into understanding the shared pasts and ongoing connections between Hong Kong and other globalized cities Viewed through the lens of transnational American Studies the film sheds important insights on both Hong Kong and U S history culture and identity Through this important film from a woman director the author explores the way Hong Kong and the U S have been and continue to be connected through flows of people ideas and events that make their impact known on both sides of the Pacific The book reminds readers of the importance of seeing Hong Kong films as cultural texts that address historical events socio economic shifts and the impact of those events on individual lives With its focus on migration and migrants An Autumn's Tale especially benefits from the transnational American studies perspective that Dr Ford brings to her examination This exciting new field draws from the best of many disciplinary perspectives as well as interdisciplinary perspectives in cultural and postcolonial studies with an eye towards understanding how national identity is both fluid and resilient even in these global times The book is readable and teachable for those looking to understand connections between the U S and Asia during the closing years of the twentieth century during a dynamic period the 1980s in both Hong Kong and New York

An autumn tale, An Autumn Tale R. Dixon, Chinese Women's Cinema Lingzhen Wang, 2011-08-30 The first of its kind in English this collection explores twenty one well established and lesser known female filmmakers from mainland China Hong Kong Taiwan and the Chinese diaspora Sixteen scholars illuminate these filmmakers negotiations of local and global politics cinematic representation and issues of gender and sexuality covering works from the 1920s to the present Writing from the disciplines of Asian women's film and auteur studies contributors reclaim the work of Esther Eng Tang Shu Shuen Dong Kena and Sylvia Chang among others who have transformed Chinese cinematic modernity Chinese Women's Cinema is a unique transcultural interdisciplinary conversation on authorship feminist cinema transnational gender and cinematic agency and representation Lingzhen Wang's comprehensive introduction recounts the history and limitations of established feminist film theory particularly its relationship with female cinematic authorship and agency She also reviews critiques of classical feminist film theory along with recent developments in feminist practice altogether remapping feminist film discourse within transnational and interdisciplinary contexts Wang's subsequent redefinition of women's cinema and brief history of women's cinematic practices in modern China encourage the reader to reposition gender and cinema within a transnational feminist configuration such that power and knowledge are reexamined among and across cultures and nation states

An autumn's tale Juris Angela, 2016 American and Chinese-Language Cinemas Lisa Funnell, Man-Fung Yip, 2014-09-19 Critics frequently describe the influence of America through Hollywood and other cultural industries as a form of cultural imperialism This unidirectional model of interaction does not address however the counter flows of Chinese language films

into the American film market or the influence of Chinese filmmakers film stars and aesthetics in Hollywood The aim of this collection is to re consider the complex dynamics of transnational cultural flows between American and Chinese language film industries The goal is to bring a more historical perspective to the subject focusing as much on the Hollywood influence on early Shanghai or postwar Hong Kong films as on the intensifying flows between American and Chinese language cinemas in recent decades Contributors emphasize the processes of appropriation and reception involved in transnational cultural practices examining film production distribution and reception
