

Desertification

The image shows a wide, flat landscape that has become arid. The ground is a mix of light brown and reddish soil, with very little green grass or vegetation. In the middle ground, there are several small, scrubby bushes and a few larger, thin trees. In the far background, a dense line of trees stretches across the horizon. The sky is overcast with grey clouds, suggesting a dry and possibly stormy atmosphere.

Desertification is accelerating in dryland regions due in part to repetitive drought, unsustainable soil management and overgrazing.
