The Dreaming Mind and the End of the Ming World Lynn A. Struve, 2021-05-31 From the mid sixteenth through the end of the seventeenth century Chinese intellectuals attended more to dreams and dreaming and in a wider array of genres than in any other period of Chinese history Taking the approach of cultural history this ambitious yet accessible work aims both to describe the most salient aspects of this dream arc and to explain its trajectory in time through the writings arts and practices of well known thinkers religionists litterateurs memoirists painters doctors and political figures of late Ming and early Qing times The volume s encompassing thesis asserts that certain associations of dreaming grounded in the neurophysiology of the human brain at sleep such as subjectivity irrationality the unbidden lack of control emotionality spontaneity the imaginal and memory when especially heightened by historical and cultural developments are likely to pique interest in dreaming and generate florescences of dream expression among intellectuals The work thus makes a contribution to the history of how people have understood human consciousness in various times and cultures The Dreaming Mind and the End of the Ming World is the most substantial work in any language on the historicity of Chinese dream culture Within Chinese studies it will appeal to those with backgrounds in literature religion philosophy political history and the visual arts It will also be welcomed by readers interested in comparative dream cultures the history of consciousness and neurohistory

The Oregon Native Son, 1899 Oregon Native Son and Historical Magazine, 1899 Psychoanalysis and Black Novels Claudia Tate, 1998 The author of this text argues that psychoanalytic paradigms can produce rich readings of African American desire alienation and subjectivity 'Bitter with the Past but Sweet with the Dream': Communism in the African American Imaginary Cathy Bergin, 2015-05-19 The legacy of the relationship between African American writers and Communism in the US is a contested one Bergin argues that in three novels by seminal mid century authors Wright Himes and Ellison Communism is not dismissed as incapable of meeting the demands of black political identity but is castigated for its refusal to do so A detailed focus on the political milieu in which these texts operate challenges many of the presumptions about the inability of Communism to comprehend racial oppression which dominate literary critical approaches to these novels She draws on the complex formations black political agency presumed and reproduced by American Communism during the Depression The Primate's Dream James W. Tuttleton, 1999-03-09 The substance of Mr Tuttleton s compelling new collection of literary essays is the work of black writers and the representation of the black experience in America He aims to approach the black poet Derek Walcott s ideal of a raceless critic one who judges by the character of the work rather than by the skin color of its author The Primate s Dream furthers Mr Tuttleton s stature as one of our most respected critics He is a critic whose judgments can be trusted James Seaton Hudson Review The Richard Wright Encyclopedia Jerry W. Ward, Robert J. Butler, 2008-06-30 Richard Wright is one of the most important African American writers He is also one of the most prolific Best known as the author of Native Son he wrote 7 novels 2 collections of short fiction an autobiography more than 250 newspaper articles book reviews and occasional essays some 4 000 verses a photo documentary and 3 travel books By attacking the taboos and hypocrisy that other writers had failed to address he revolutionized American literature and created a disturbing and realistic portrait of the African American experience This encyclopedia is a guide to his vast and influential body of works The Grizzly Bear ,1929 Black Manhood in James Baldwin, Ernest J. Gaines, and August Wilson Keith Clark,2002-03-21 Challenging the standard portrayals of Black men in African American literature From Frederick Douglass to the present the preoccupation of black writers with manhood and masculinity is a constant Black Manhood in James Baldwin Ernest J Gaines and August Wilson explores how in their own work three major African American writers contest classic portrayals of black men in earlier literature from slave narratives through the great novels of Richard Wright and Ralph Ellison Keith Clark examines short stories novels and plays by Baldwin Gaines and Wilson arguing that since the 1950s the three have interrupted and radically dismantled the constricting literary depictions of black men who equate selfhood with victimization isolation and patriarchy Instead they have reimagined black men whose identity is grounded in community camaraderie and intimacy Delivering original and startling insights this book will appeal to scholars and students of African American literature gender studies and narratology The Logic of Slavery Tim Armstrong,2012-08-27 This book meditates on the conceptual underpinnings of slavery and investigates its impact on other areas of Western culture Bulletin Society for the Libraries of New York University,1962 Publication ,1966 African American Review ,1999 AB Bookman's Weekly ,1998 Melchior's Dream Juliana Horatia Ewing,1886 The Corrector ,1915 Everybody's ,1922 Spink & Son's Monthly Numismatic Circular ,1897 The Bibliography of Robert Burns James Gibson,1881 The bibliography of Robert Burns, with biographical and bibliographical notes [signed J.G.].
