Dropped Threads 2 More Of What We Arent Told:

Dropped Threads 2 Carol Shields, Marjorie Anderson, 2010-05-28 The idea for Dropped Threads What We Aren't Told came up between Carol Shields and longtime friend Marjorie Anderson over lunch. It appeared that after decades of feminism the women's network still wasn't able to prevent women being caught off guard by life. There remained subjects women just didn't talk about or felt they couldn't talk about. Holes existed in the fabric of women's discourse and they needed examining. They asked thirty-four women to write about moments in life that had taken them by surprise or experiences that received too little discussion and then they compiled these pieces into a book. It became an instant number one bestseller, a book club favourite and a runaway success. Dropped Threads says Anderson tapped into a powerful need to share personal stories about life's defining moments of surprise and silence. Readers recognized themselves in these honest and intimate stories; there was something universal in these deeply personal accounts. Other stories and suggestions poured in. Dropped Threads would clearly be an ongoing project. Like the first volume, Dropped Threads 2 features stories by well-known novelists and journalists such as Jane Urquhart, Susan Swan, and Shelagh Rogers, but also many excellent new writers including teachers, mothers, a civil servant, a therapist. This triumphant follow-up received a starred first review in Quill and Quire magazine which called it compassionate and unflinching. The book deals with such difficult topics as loss, depression, disease, widowhood, violence, and coming to terms with death. Several stories address some of the darker sides of motherhood. A mother describes how, while sleep-deprived and in a miserable marriage, she is shocked to find infanticide crossing her mind. Another woman recounts a memory of her alcoholic mother demanding the children prove their loyalty in a terrifying way. A woman desperate for children refers to the bleak truth as 'Another Christmas of feeling barren'. Narrating the fertility treatment she undergoes, she hopes dashed, she is amusing in retrospect and yet brutally honest. While they deal with loss and trauma, the pieces show the path to some kind of acceptance, showing the authors' determination to learn from pain and pass on the wisdom gained. The volume also covers the rewards of learning to be a parent, choosing to remain single, or fitting in as a lesbian parent. It explores how women feel when something is missing in a friendship, how they experience discrimination, relationship challenges, and other emotions less easily defined but just as close to the bone. Alison Wearing, in My Life as a Shadow, subtly describes allowing her personality to be subsumed by her boyfriend's. Pamela Mala Sinha tells how, after suffering a brutal attack, she felt self-hatred and a longing for retribution. Dana McNairn talks of her uncomfortable marriage to a man from a different social background: 'I wanted to fit in with this strange, wondrous family who never raised their voices, never swore, and never threw things at one another.' Humour, a confiding tone, and beautiful writing elevate and enliven even the darkest stories. Details bring scenes vividly to life so we feel we are in the room with Barbara Defago when the doctor tells her she has breast cancer, coolly dividing her life into a 'before' and 'after'. Lucid, reflective, and poignant, Dropped Threads 2 is for anyone interested in women's true stories.

Teaching for Aesthetic Experience Gene Diaz, Martha McKenna, 2004 The artist educators in this book invite you to come with them on a journey of discovery into the meaning of teaching for aesthetic experience With learning as their art they create educational encounters with passion and feeling and leave their students with vivid impressions growth and change Each author engages in aesthetic experience from an individual perspective as poet dancer visual artist or musician and each of them engages as an educator who brings art into his or her classroom no matter what the subject Inspired by the words of philosopher Maxine Greene the contributors transform the theoretical into the practical urging students to look to the arts and nature for simple beauty and awaken their minds to new possibilities of creative learning Liminal Spaces Alex Ramon, 2009-10-02 This book offers a comprehensive reassessment of the work of Carol Shields Arguing against enduring conceptions of Shields's fiction as celebratory domestic miniaturism the study presents her work as more expansive and equivocal than has sometimes been recognised reading her texts as liminal spaces situated on a series of formal and thematic borders Close attention is paid to Shields's stylistic experimentation to her subversions of auto biography and historiography and to the significance of her critical writing while works which have previously received very little analysis such as her early poetry collections are also examined Intertextual links between Shields's work and that of a range of other writers including Phillip Larkin Iris Murdoch Alice Munro and Margaret Atwood are identified and explored and the study also draws extensively on manuscript materials which give an insight into Shields's working methods and extend debate about her experiments with narrative perspective and genre mixing Unless Carol Shields, 2009-03-17 Shields is unsparing as she explores the black holes of uncertainty in women's lives these are the dark thoughts of an illuminating novel Chicago Tribune The final book from Pulitzer Prize winning author Carol Shields Unless is a harrowing but ultimately consoling story of one family's anguish and healing proving Shields's mastery of extraordinary fiction about ordinary life For all of her life forty four year old Reta Winters has enjoyed the useful monotony of happiness a loving family good friends growing success as a writer of light summertime fiction But this placid existence is cracked wide open when her beloved eldest daughter Norah drops out of college to sit on a gritty street corner silent but for the sign around her neck that reads GOODNESS Reta's search for what drove her daughter to such a desperate statement turns into an unflinching and surprisingly funny meditation on where we find meaning and hope Nothing short of astonishing The New Yorker A thing of beauty lucidly written artfully ordered riddled with riddles and undergirded with dark layers of philosophical meditations Los Angeles Times Like The Stone Diaries which won Shields a Pulitzer Prize and her tour de force follow up novel Larry's Party Unless presents itself almost instantly as a story about ordinary lives But then through her sensitive observations and exacting prose the author proceeds to flip them over and show us their uncommon depths a fine novel The Washington Post Book World The Worlds of Carol Shields David Staines, 2014-12-02 Carol was a very fine writer and a remarkable human being a wonderful person whose work I closely followed for more than 20 years I interviewed her frequently over those years with virtually every work she produced novel radio drama play book of stories So I had a good sense of the span of her work and also her evolution as a stylist But the key reason I wanted to make a book focusing on her life and work is that we were friends Eleanor Wachtel This book strikes the right balance between intimate accounts and literary analysis It opens with reminiscences by close friend Eleanor Wachtel which are followed by a study of Shields poetry by her daughter and grandson then by various aspects of her fiction including a detailed examination of her plays It closes with reminiscences by four close friends Jane Urquhart Joan Clark Wayson Choy and Martin Levin The 23 contributors offer new insights new theories and new perspectives about Shields illuminating career Only one piece her obituary written by Margaret Atwood has been previously published

The Canadian Shields Carol Shields, 2024-09-09 Newly discovered work by one of Canada's favourite writers The Canadian Shields brings together fifty short writings by Carol Shields 1935-2003 including more than two dozen previously unpublished short stories and essays and two dozen essays previously published but never before collected Invaluable to scholars and admirers of Shields's work the writings discovered in the National Library Archives by Nora Foster Stovel and presented to the public here for the first time reflect Shields's interest in the relationships between reality and fiction mothers and daughters and gender and genre They also reveal her love of Canada especially Winnipeg her home for twenty years Originally written for women's magazines travel journals convocation addresses and even graduate school term papers Shields's imaginative essays explore ideas about home Canadian literature contemporary women's writing and the future of fiction Whether autobiographical cultural or feminist in focus these works vividly illuminate the multiple chapters of Shields's writing life Margaret Atwood and Lorna Crozier frame Shields's texts with tributes to her work and impact An introduction by Stovel situates Shields as a Canadian author and subversive feminist writer demonstrating how American born and raised Carol Anne Warner became the Canadian Shields a quintessential and beloved Canadian writer and the only author to win both the Pulitzer Prize and the Governor General's Gold Medal for Fiction woman of despairing good cheer just look into the imaginary camera lens and watch me as I make the Sunday morning transaction over the bread then the flowers my straw tote from our recent holiday in Jamaica my smile my upturned sixty seven year old voice a voice so crying out and clad with familiarity that in fact I can't hear it anymore myself thank God my ears are blocked Lately everything to do with my essence has become transparent neutral Good morning Jane Sexton smiles to one and all such a friendly down to earth woman What a perfect fall day What glorious blooms Why Mr Henning this bread is still warm Can this be true
