Dual Heritage:

Dual Heritage Norman S. Prescott, 1986      The Dual Heritage of Joseph Conrad Robert R. Hodges, 1967      Cultures of Desistance Adam Calverley, 2013 In contrast to the widespread focus on ethnicity in relation to engagement in offending the question of whether or not processes associated with desistance that is the cessation and curtailment of offending behaviour vary by ethnicity has received less attention This is despite known ethnic differences in factors identified as affecting disengagement from offending such as employment place of residence religious affiliation and family structure providing good reasons for believing differences would exist This book seeks to address this oversight Using data obtained from in depth qualitative interviews it investigates the processes associated with desistance from crime among offenders drawn from some of the principal minority ethnic groups in the United Kingdom Cultures of Desistance explores how structural families friends peer groups employment social capital and cultural religion values recognition ethnic differences affected the environment in which their desistance took place For Indians and Bangladeshis desistance was characterised as a collective experience involving their families actively intervening in their lives In contrast Black and dual heritage offenders desistance was a much more individualistic endeavour The book suggests a need for a research agenda and justice policy that are sensitive to desisters structural location and for a wider culture which promotes and supports desisters efforts      Rethinking Heritage Language Education Peter Pericles Trifonas, Themistoklis Aravossitas, 2014-09-11 A collaborative series with the University of Cambridge Faculty of Education highlighting leading edge research across Teacher Education International Education Reform and Language Education Rethinking Heritage Language Education is an edited collection that brings together emerging and established researchers interested in the education field of Heritage Language Education to negotiate its concepts and practices and investigate the correlation between culture and language from a pedagogic and cosmopolitical point of view The scholars who have contributed to the growth of Heritage Language Education as a discipline reconsider and enrich their findings by drawing new lines across the boundaries of research and practice It complements the previous work of these theorists filling a void in the current literature around the question of Heritage Language Education

Transforming Heritage Practice in the 21st Century John H. Jameson, Sergiu Musteață, 2019-06-14 Recent years have witnessed a rapid increase in the fields of cultural heritage studies and community archaeology worldwide with expanding discussions about the mechanisms and consequences of community participation This trend has brought to the forefront debates about who owns the past who has knowledge and how heritage values can be shared more effectively with communities who then ascribe meaning and value to heritage materials Globalization forces have created a need for contextualizing knowledge to address complex issues and collaboration across and beyond academic disciplines using more integrated methodologies that include the participation of non academics and increased stakeholder involvement Successful programs provide power sharing mechanisms and motivation that effect more active involvement by lay persons in archaeological fieldwork as well as interpretation and information dissemination processes. With the contents of this volume we envision community archaeology to go beyond descriptions of outreach and public engagement to more critical and reflexive actions and thinking. The volume is presented in the context of the evolution of cultural heritage studies from the 20th century expert approach to the 21st century people centered approach with public participation and community involvement at all phases of the decision making process. The volume contains contributions of 28 chapters and 59 authors covering an extensive geographical range including Africa, South America, Central America, Western Europe, Eastern Europe, North America and Australasia. Chapters provide exemplary cases in a growing lexicon of public archaeology where power is shared within frameworks of voluntary activism in a wide diversity of cooperative settings and stakeholder interactions.

The Geography of Contemporary China Jing'ai Wang, Shunlin Liang, Peijun Shi, 2022-06-28. This textbook provides a comprehensive and very detailed insight into Chinese Contemporary Geography in English. It documents the geographical issues associated with China's rapid growth. Since initiating the reforms and open policy, China has achieved tremendous success. China's rapid growth is now a driving force in the global economy and is achieving unprecedented rates of poverty reduction. However, China also faces a number of sustainability and emerging challenges associated with rapid growth such as growing regional disparities in terms of per capita income and social economic development, sustainable resource development and issues related to regional and global economic integration. In addition, rapid economic growth has also brought about major challenges such as resource shortages, ecological and environmental destruction, land degradation and frequent disasters. This book presents the authors' reflections. This lavishly illustrated book covers physical geography, history and economic and political systems of the world's most populous country. The major focus is on geographical issues in China's contemporary development: agriculture, population, urbanization, resource and energy, and environment. The lead author of the book has taught relevant courses in China for three decades and authored and edited multiple textbooks for Chinese students. This book will appeal to undergraduate students of geography and related disciplines with a regional focus on China and to the general reader who wants to learn different geographical aspects of modern China with little academic background in geography.

The Architecture of Desistance Stephen Farrall, 2019-06-06. The volume of studies into desistance has grown dramatically in recent years. Much of this research has focused on the internal dynamics of desistance such as decision making, choice and restraint. Bringing together leading figures and drawing upon case studies from around the world, this book seeks to fill a vacuum in the contemporary literature on desistance by considering processes and practices at a societal level that influence how and why people desist from crime. Beginning with an outline of what is known about how social, cultural and economic structures shape desistance from crime, this book proceeds to explore studies of desistance in countries such as the UK, Brazil, France, Israel, Ireland, Sweden and Chile. These studies touch on variations by ethnicity, the nature of the criminal justice system, economic cycles, gender, religious belief systems and the use of time and space. Policy matters relating to desistance such as the rehabilitation and supervision of former offenders are also explored This book will be invaluable reading to students and scholars of criminology sociology and social studies engaged in studies of desistance criminology criminal justice victimology penology and probation
