Approaches to Material Culture Research for Historical Archaeologists, 2000 Approaches to Material Culture, 2009-09-10 Approaches to Material Culture Research for Historical Archaeologists A Reader from Historical Archaeology Brought to you by the Society for Historical Archaeology Approaches to Material Culture Archaeology in Practice Jane Balme, Alistair Paterson, 2014-01-14 This much enhanced new edition of the highly accessible guide to practical archaeology is a vital resource for students. It features the latest methodologies, a wealth of case studies from around the world, and contributions from leading specialists in archaeological materials analysis. New edition updated to include the latest archaeological methods, an enhanced focus on post-excavation analysis, and new material including a dedicated chapter on analyzing human remains. Covers the full range of current analytic methods such as analysis of stone tools, human remains, and absolute dating. Features a user-friendly structure organized according to material types such as animal bones, ceramics, and stone artifacts, as well as by thematic topics ranging from dating techniques to report writing and ethical concerns. Accessible to archaeology students at all levels with detailed references and extensive case studies featured throughout.

Modern Material Culture Richard A. Gould, Michael B. Schiffer, 2014-06-28 Modern Material Culture Historical Archaeology and the Study of American Culture Lu Ann De Cunzio, Bernard L. Herman, 1996 In this volume of essays, historical archaeologists and scholars from a variety of other fields explore creative approaches to material culture as a form of cultural expression. The essays, derived from papers first presented at the 1991 Winterthur Conference, emphasize material culture's communicative qualities, its roles in social performance, the construction of identity, and the mediation of interaction and its interpretive limitations. A special concern with contexts in their myriad forms resonates throughout the volume. The contributors not only describe time and place but they seek the intimate social and symbolic details of human agency in all their diversity. The essays reveal how dynamic archaeological thinking can appeal to a broader audience. The first section, Construction of Context: Negotiating Consumer Culture, groups six essays that foreground people and their choices in diverse consumer contexts. The authors examine the ways that material culture illuminates the cultural dialogues between New England's native peoples and European traders, urbane Virginians and their country cousins, Southern slaves and their owners, agrarian potters and industrial capitalists, and nineteenth-century Americans and the brokers of consumer culture. In the second section, In the Active Voice: Remaking the American Landscape, the attention shifts from people to the land they inhabited and changed. Through close reading of multiple data sources at many scales, from microscopic pollen grains to urban plans, the authors of these four essays trace the remaking of eighteenth and nineteenth-century American farms and cities. In the third section, Working toward Meaning: The Scope of Historical Archaeology, the authors work outward from the preceding studies, directly engaging the reader in the process of reinventing historical archaeology. Together with the other contributions to this volume, these three concluding essays demonstrate the important place of historical archaeology in the interdisciplinary arena of material culture studies Broken Chains and Subverted Plans Christopher C. Fennell,2016-12-15

Using two case studies in the Virginia back country and the Midwestern frontier in Illinois Fennell argues that individuals and their families were able to affect economic development and the plans of government and wealthy elites Provided by publisher Good taste, fashion, luxury: a genteel Melbourne family and their rubbish Sarah Hayes,2014-09-09

Melbourne grew during the 19th century from its fledgling roots into a global metropolitan centre and was home to many people from a range of social and cultural backgrounds The Martin family arrived in Melbourne in 1839 and soon established themselves at the genteel Viewbank estate near Heidelberg They were typical of the early middle class immigrants to Melbourne who brought their gentility and privilege with them to the colony The Martins spent many years at Viewbank and the physical remains they left behind provide a valuable case study for examining class negotiation in the colony through historical archaeology In this important study material culture is used to understand the unique way in which the Martin family used gentility to establish and maintain their class position Material Culture: Oxford Bibliographies Online

Newsletter - Society of Historical Archaeology Society for Historical Archaeology,2000 Interpreting the Early Modern World Mary C. Beaudry,James Symonds,2010-10-20 Interpretive archaeology meaning the interpretation social science as opposed to hard science of archaeology and archaeological artifacts has predominantly been the realm of prehistoric archaeologists Many historical archaeologists are participating in this disciplinary shift from processualism to post processualism and interpretation but to date few have called their work interpretive archaeology This volume is based on a session at the Society for Historical Archaeology meeting in 2005 The organizers now editors brought together historical archaeologists from both the UK and the US working in the same areas industrial landscape monuments etc but because of their country based training their work arises out of differing intellectual traditions The chapters in each section do not stand in isolation rather the authors exchange ideas about what each other has written They construct dialogues about theories and practices that inform interpretive archaeology on either side of the Atlantic ends with commentary by two well known names in interpretive archaeology in the UK and in the States Maritime Archaeology in Australia Mark Staniforth, Michael Kenneth Hyde, 2001 The Origin of Roman London Lacey M. Wallace, 2015-01-08 In this book Dr Wallace makes a fundamental contribution to the study of urbanism in the Roman provinces She attempts for the first time to present a detailed archaeological account of the first decade of one of the best excavated cities in the Roman Empire Delving into the artefact and structural reports from all excavations of pre Boudican levels in London she brings together vast quantities of data which are discussed and illustrated according to a novel methodology that address both the difficulties and complexity of grey literature and urban excavation A Historical Context and Archaeological Research Design for Agricultural Properties in California California. Department of Transportation. Division of Environmental Analysis, 2007 Mining and Materiality Anne M. Teather, 2016-02-28 In this book Anne Teather develops a new approach to understanding the Neolithic flint mines of southern Britain The Materiality of Individuality Carolyn L. White, 2009-08-15 Generally individuals in history are known for a particular reason they somehow influenced history Very little is known about the ordinary person who lived in the past But historical archaeologists through their interpretation of the material culture and historic record can study the past on an individual level This brings archaeological interpretation from a micro to a macro level as opposed to the traditional level of society to community to individual interpretation The cases presented in this volume engage material culture that is owned or used by a single person and is thus associated with an individual at some point in its use life The volume takes bodkins shoes beads cloth religious items grave goods as well as subassemblages from well defined contexts from New England the Chesapeake New Orleans Hawaii Spanish colonial America and London in the pursuit of the individual and the textured interpretation this analytical scale provides This volume promises to present innovative approaches to a host of archaeological materials drawing widely on the range of archaeological research for the historical period today Capitalizing on several topics and research threads with great currency such as the examination of material culture and interest in various and intersecting lines of identity construction as well as presenting an international and multiregional approach to these topics this volume will be of interest to archaeologists anthropologists material culture scholars and social historians interested in a wide variety of time periods and subfields Colonial Transformations of Death and Burial Emily Jane Weglian, 2006 Historical Archaeology in Georgia J. W. Joseph, 2004 The Life of a Potter, Andrew Pitman Sunyoon Park, Matthew Laird, Beverly A. Straube, Gregory J. Brown, 2001 Henry's Mill Peter Davies, 2006 Studies in Contemporary and Historical Archaeology 2 Studies in Contemporary and Historical Archaeology is a new series of edited and single authored volumes intended to make available current work on the archaeology of the recent and contemporary past The series brings together contributions from academic historical archaeologists professional archaeologists and practitioners from cognate disciplines who are engaged with archaeological material and practices In this the second volume in the series the author presents a nuanced account of 19th and 20th century forest sawmill communities in southern Victoria Australia Weaving together archaeological and historical data issues of community development isolation integration and consumption practices are sensitively explored Not only does the volume make a valuable contribution to the historical archaeology of rural Australia but it provides an extended case study for others studying the history and archaeology of temporary work communities elsewhere in the emerging modern world Pennsylvania Archaeologist ,1999
