The Global Soul Pico Iyer,2011-08-31 Pico Iyer has for many years described with keen perception and exacting wit the shifting textures of faraway lands anchored on a spinning globe that mixes and matches East and West Now he casts a philosophical eye upon this curious state of floatingness In the transnational village that our world has become travel and technology fuel each other and us As Iyer points out everywhere is so made up of everywhere else and our very souls have been put into circulation Yet even global beings need a home Using his own multicultural upbringing Indian American British as a point of departure Iyer sets out on a quest both physical and psychological to find what remains constant in a world gone mobile He begins in Los Angeles International Airport where town life shops services sociability is available without a town and in Hong Kong where people actually live in self contained hotels He moves on to Toronto which has been given new life and a new literature by its immigrant population and to Atlanta where the Olympic Village inadvertently commemorates the corporate universalism that is the Olympics secret face And finally he returns to England where the effects of empire as global village are still being sorted out and to Japan where in the midst of alien surfaces Iyer unexpectedly finds a home As a guide to far flung places Pico Iyer can hardly be surpassed The New Yorker has written In The Global Soul he extends the meaning of far flung to places within and all around us
