

Beef In China

Thomas Gordon Field, Robert E. Taylor

Beef In China:

Beef in China John William Longworth, Colin G. Brown, Scott A. Waldron, 2001 China's emergence as a beef giant has enormous implications for the world beef market. The first up to date and full scale analysis of the booming beef industry of China which produces a phenomenal five times more beef than Australia. The product of several years of fieldwork and university research a collaboration with recognised industry authorities here and in China. Abundantly illustrated. John Longworth is the author of Beef in Japan published in 1983. Regionalisation and Integration in China Colin Brown, John Longworth, Scott Waldron, 2018-10-24 This title was first published in 2002. Changing economic, institutional and market environments have turned the spatial inter relationships thought to exist in China upside down. Through an investigation of the beef industry this text builds a picture of where regionalization and integration are heading in China. It examines the impacts of market forces, industry characteristics, relative factor endowments and government influence on the spatial organization of activities. It reveals the influence of government as priorities are re-assessed and as markets and industries develop, as well as exploring the extent of regional coordination and co-operation and how central and local government policies and strategies reconcile. The volume also contains regional assessments of the beef industry in 12 key producing provinces and the key consumption areas of Beijing, Shanghai and Hong Kong. Butchering and Curing Meats in China Carl Oscar Levine, 1921. Global Beef Trade: Effects of Animal Health, Sanitary, Food Safety, and Other Measures on U.S. Beef Exports, Inv. 332-488, Early History of Meat Inspection in China J. R. Shand, 1932. China's Developing Beef Industry Wen Gong, 2007. The livestock industry in China has undergone significant changes since 1985 when the liberalisation of the livestock market was initiated. The beef sector is no exception to this transition. Both production and consumption have increased faster than all other meats over the last two decades. The significance of the development of China's beef industry is seen through its contribution to raising incomes for cattle farmers, making full use of the resources, promoting not only beef production but also other sectors of the beef supply chain, improving people's nutritional intake and capturing opportunity for China as a result of WTO accession. However, there exist a number of problems in China's beef industry such as low carcass weight, inconsistent and sometimes poor quality and lack of coordination. China is in the process of developing its beef supply chain. To further facilitate development of China's beef industry, the overall management of the supply chain from producer to consumer is of great importance. The major research objective is to study beef supply chain management in China so as to improve the performance of the Chinese beef industry. abstract.
