Contending Images of World Politics Greg Fry, Jacinta O'Hagan, 2000 This major new book provides a novel and interesting approach to the study of international relations Taking as its starting point a range of influential recent perspectives on the changing world order from Samuel P Huntington's clash of civilizations between the West and the rest to Francis Fukuyama's end of history thesis the book brings together specially commissioned chapters written in a highly accessible style by a truly international cast of contributors

Culture and Context in World Politics Stephanie Lawson, 2006-09-05 This wide ranging historically informed study examines the career of the culture concept and related notions of context in comparative and international politics tracing connections through the disciplines of anthropology and history as well as through issues in nationalism and democracy

Coping and Conformity in World Politics Hugh C. Dyer, 2009-12-16 This book introduces the conceptual frameworks of coping and conformity to provide a new analysis of the ethical and political demands of international life The book also aims to address wider issues of freedom and necessity individualism and communitarianism and cosmopolitanism agency and structure and the legitimacy of governance and institutions

International Relations in Europe Knud Erik Jørgensen, Tonny Brems Knudsen, 2006-04-18 A new and illuminating critical examination of international relations in Europe This new volume presents all of the state of the art thinking focusing particularly on international relations theory and theoretical debates in Western and Central European countries The contributors seek to strengthen knowledge about different ways of cultivating the discipline to intensify pan European communication concerning IR theory to contribute to improving the quality of theorizing and finally to consider future directions for the discipline in Europe The main issues addressed include the historical development of the discipline factors driving IR theorizing the institutional and cultural context of theorizing homegrown theory building vs theory import patterns of traditional and new discourse and the diversity of disciplinary traditions

Building Regions Luk Van Langenhove, 2016-04-08 Regions How they emerge and how they are dramatically changing the appearance of the present world of states and its related forms of governance from local to global levels is analysed in this monograph But what are regions Regions can be small or huge They can be part of a single state be composed out of different states or stretched out across borders They can be important recognized economic social or cultural entities or they can be largely ignored by the people who live on a region's territory They can be well defined with clear cut boundaries as is the case in so called constitutional regions or they can be fuzzy as for instance in cross border regions In sum they are not a natural kind and defining regions is not a simple task Luk Van Langenhove advances the concept of region building as an alternative to the construction of regions with three issues of region building being explored Why are regions built in a world of states How do region building processes take place How are regions transforming the present world order Crossing disciplinary boundaries this book is an exercise in theorizing regions and brings together under one conceptual framework different processes and concepts such as regional integration devolution federalism and separatism and refines the social constructionist view on regions

Civilization and Empire Shogo Suzuki, 2009-02-02 This book critically examines the influence of International Society on East Asia and how its attempts to introduce civilization to barbarous polities contributed to conflict between China and Japan Challenging existing works that have presented the expansion of European International Society as a progressive linear process this book contends that imperialism along with an ideology premised on civilising barbarous peoples played a central role in its historic development Considering how these elements of International Society affected China and Japan s entry into it Shogo Suzuki contends that such states envisaged a Janus faced International Society which simultaneously aimed for cooperative relations among its civilized members and for the introduction of civilization towards non European polities often by coercive means By examining the complex process by which China and Japan engaged with this dualism this book highlights a darker side of China and Japan s socialization into International Society which previous studies have failed to acknowledge Drawing on Chinese and Japanese primary sources seldom utilized in International Relations this book makes a compelling case for revising our understandings of International Society and its expansion This book will be of strong interest to students and researcher of international relations international history European studies and Asian Studies

Islam Beyond Conflict Wayne Hudson, 2017-03-02 Politically Islam in Indonesia is part of a rich multi cultural mix Religious tolerance is seen as the cornerstone of relations between different faiths and moderation is built into the country s constitutional framework However the advent of democracy coupled with the impact of the South East Asian economic collapse in 1997 and the arrival of a tough new breed of Middle Eastern Islamic preachers sowed the seeds of the current challenge to Indonesia s traditionally moderate form of Islam This volume explores the extent to which moderate Indonesian Islam is able to assimilate leading concepts from Western political theory The essays in the collection explore how concepts from Western political theory are compatible with a liberal interpretation of Islamic universals and how such universals can form the basis for a contemporary approach to the protection of human rights and the articulation of a modern Islamic civil society

The Quest For A Just World Order Samuel S Kim, 2019-07-11 In response to a growing sense of dissatisfaction with the state of the world and the state of international relations research Professor Kim has taken an alternative approach to the study of contemporary world politics Specifically he has adopted and expanded the cross cultural interdisciplinary and transnational approach developed by the World Order Models Project WOMP an enterprise committed to the realization of peace economic equality and well being social justice and ecological balance Systemic in scope and interdisciplinary in methodology The Quest for a Just World Order explains and projects the issues patterns and trends of world politics giving special attention to the attitudinal normative behavioral and institutional problems involved in the politics of system transformation Professor Kim also attempts to remedy a number of problematic features of traditional approaches including a value neutral orientation fragmentation and overspecialization overemphasis on national actors the superpowers and stability and the Hobbesian image of world politics Part 1 presents a conceptual framework for developing a normative theory of world order Each of the four chapters in Part 2 examines a specific global crisis in depth working within the framework laid out in Part 1 In Part 3 a variety of desirable and feasible transition strategies are proposed and Professor Kim assesses the prospects for achieving a just and humane world order system by the end of this century
