Contesting Canadian Citizenship:

Contesting Canadian Citizenship Dorothy Chunn, Robert Menzies, Robert Adamoski, 2002-08 Over the past 15 years the citizenship debate in political and social theory has undergone an extraordinary renaissance To date much of the writing on citizenship within and beyond Canada has been oriented toward the development of theory or has concentrated on contemporary issues and examples This collection of essays adopts a different approach by contextualizing and historicizing the citizenship debate through studies of various aspects of the rise of social citizenship in Canada Focusing on the formative years from the late 19th through mid 20th century contributors examine how emerging discourse and practices in diverse areas of Canadian social life created a widely engaged but often deeply contested vision of the new Canadian citizen The original essays examine key developments in the fields of welfare justice health childhood family immigration education labour media popular culture and recreation highlighting the contradictory nature of Canadian citizenship The implications of these projects for the daily lives of Canadians their identities and the forms of resistance that they mounted are central themes Contributing authors situate their historical accounts in both public and private domains their analyses emphasizing the mutual permeability of state and civil ian life These diverse investigations reveal that while Canadian citizenship conveys crucial images of identity security and participatory democracy within the ongoing project of nation building it is also interlaced with the projects of a hierarchical social structure and exclusionary political order This collection explores the origins and evolution of Canadian citizenship in historical context It also introduces the more general dilemmas and debates in social history and political theory that inevitably inform these inquiries Respectable Citizens Lara A. Campbell, 2009-10-21 High unemployment rates humiliating relief policy and the spectre of eviction characterized the experiences of many Ontario families in the Great Depression Respectable Citizens is an examination of the material difficulties and survival strategies of families facing poverty and unemployment and an analysis of how collective action and protest redefined the meanings of welfare and citizenship in the 1930s Lara Campbell draws on diverse sources including newspapers family and juvenile court records premiers papers memoirs and oral histories to uncover the ways in which the material workings of the family and the discursive category of respectable citizenship were invested with gendered obligations and Anglo British identity Respectable Citizens demonstrates how women and men represented themselves as entitled to make specific claims on the state shedding new light on the cooperative and conflicting relationships between men and women parents and children and citizen and state in 1930s Canada

Ethnic Elites and Canadian Identity Aya Fujiwara, 2012-11-30 Ethnic elites the influential business owners teachers and newspaper editors within distinct ethnic communities play an important role as self appointed mediators between their communities and mainstream societies In Ethnic Elites and Canadian Identity Aya Fujiwara examines the roles of Japanese Ukrainian and Scottish elites during the transition of Canadian identity from Anglo conformity to ethnic pluralism By comparing the strategies and discourses used by each community including rhetoric myths collective memories and symbols she reveals how prewar community leaders were driving forces in the development of multiculturalism policy In doing so she challenges the widely held notion that multiculturalism was a product of the 1960s formulated and promoted by mainstream Canadians and places the emergence of Canadian multiculturalism within a transnational context Struggles for Belonging Dieter Gosewinkel,2021-11-04

Citizenship was the most important mark of political belonging in Europe in the twentieth century while estate religion party class and nation lost political significance in the century of extremes This is shown by examining the legal institution of citizenship with its deciding influence on the limits of a political community on inclusion and exclusion Citizenship determined a person s protection equality and freedom and thus his or her chances in life and very survival This book recounts the history of citizenship in Europe as the history of European statehood in the twentieth and early twenty first centuries It does so from three vantage points as the development of a legal institution crucial to European constitutionalism as a measure of an individual s opportunities for self fulfilment ranging from freedom to totalitarian subjugation and as a succession of alternating often sharply divergent political regimes considered from the perspective of their inclusivity and exclusivity and its justification The European history of citizenship is discussed in this book on the basis of six selected countries Great Britain France Germany Czechoslovakia Poland and Russia For the first time a joint history of citizenship in Western and Eastern Europe is told here from the heyday of the nation state to our present day which is marked by the crises of the European Union It is the history of a central legal institution that significantly represents and at the same time determines struggles over migration integration and belonging One of the central concerns of this book is what lessons can be learned when it comes to the future chances of European citizenship Contesting Illness Katherine Anne Teghtsoonian,Pamela Moss,2008-02-16

The relationship between power and illness is the subject of limited discussion despite it being one of the most important issues in health related policies and services In an effort to correct this Contesting Illness engages critically with processes through which the meanings and effects of illness shape and are shaped by specific sets of practices Featuring original contributions by researchers working in a number of disciplines this collection examines intersections of power contestation and illness with the aid of various critical theoretical frameworks and methodological approaches The contributors explore experiences of illness diagnosis and treatment and analyse wider discursive and policy contexts within which people become ill and engage with health care systems Though each essay is unique in its approach they are linked together by a shared focus on contestation as a conceptual tool in considering the relationship between power and illness Rather than focus on a single example the contributors address different contested illnesses chronic fatigue syndrome and environmental illness for instance as well as the contested dimensions of illnesses that are accepted as legitimate such as cancer and autism Contesting Illness offers valuable insights into the assumptions practices and interactions that shape illness in the twenty first century Contributors Jan Angus Pia H B low Peter Conrad Joyce Davidson

Exalted Subjects Sunera Thobani, 2007 An absorbing study Exalted Subjects makes a contribution to the transformation of the racialized and gendered underpinnings of both nation and subject formation Contemporary Canadian Federalism Alain-G. Gagnon, 2009-06-06 The papers in this collection offer reflections on Canadian federalism by leading Qu b cois scholars The Politics of Indigeneity Roger Maaka, Augie Fleras, 2005 Indigenous peoples are increasingly uniting around a commonality of concerns needs and ambitions In both New Zealand and Canada these politics challenge the colonial structures that social and political systems are built upon Both countries have accomplished much in their management of indigenous issues New Zealand has begun to right historical wrongs through treaty settlements and to implement bicultural strategies Canada is experimenting with self government for aboriginal peoples Yet there are still many issues to be addresses with recent statistics showing indigenous peoples in bother these countries struggling to balance functioning in everyday life with preserving their cultures This book casts light on the constitutional politics in both countries that are redefining the relationship of indigenous peoples to the state A unique and timely discussion Finding Families, Finding Ourselves Veronica Jane Strong-Boag,2006 In Finding Families Finding Ourselves historian Veronica Strong Boag examines the realities behind idealized pictures of adoptive families rescuing needy children or adoptees fitting seamlessly into new families The first comprehensive examination of the history of adoption in Canada Finding Families Finding Ourselves draws on a broad range of sources from legal cases sociological studies and government policies to fiction and first hand accounts Strong Boag argues that adoption far from being a marginal aspect of Canadian history goes to the heart of who we are as individuals and as a national community With its complicated dance of obligations and rights insiders and outsiders acceptance and rejection adoption reflects the ways in which we as families and as communities have consciously and unconsciously remade ourselves in the course of creating our future BOOK JACKET West Coast Line ,2008

Gatekeepers Franca Iacovetta,2006 An in depth study of European immigrants to Canada during the Cold War Gatekeepers explores the interactions among these immigrants and the gatekeepers mostly middle class individuals and institutions whose definitions of citizenship significantly shaped the immigrant experience Iacovetta s deft discussion examines how dominant bourgeois gender and Cold War ideologies of the day shaped attitudes towards new Canadians She shows how the new comers themselves were significant actors who influenced Canadian culture and society even as their own behaviour was being modified Generously illustrated Gatekeepers explores a side of Cold War history that has been left largely untapped It offers a long overdue Canadian perspective on one of the defining eras of the last century Click the Review Quote link below to read reviews and endorsements of Gatekeepers Sites of Power Peter A. Baskerville,2005 Sites of Power A Concise History of Ontario focuses on the disparate groups of people who inhabited Ontario for the past 11 000 or so years Peter Baskerville underscores how studying power relations can bring to light the contingent and variable history of a people in a given geographic region The author s premise that power begets resistance indicates the two sided nature of the historical record Sites of Power is as much about the visions of Ontario held by those who resisted structures of power as it is about the more official visions held by those in power The Book Review Digest ,2004 Home, Work, and Play John C. Walsh,James William Opp,2006 Spanning the nineteenth and twentieth centuries Home Work and Play presents a collection of recent work in Canadian social history The essays have been specifically chosen to offer insight into the important changes that have occurred within the field over the past ten years while the unique organization of home work and play helps to provide an organizational structure that students can manage and learn from Underlying the three sections are the threads of class race and gender which interweave and unify the collection This is a reader designed as a core text for courses in Canadian social history The essays are organized around the two traditional social history themes of home and work and around a newer theme play which encompasses leisure sports consumerism and sexuality The collection of 22 essays will be supplemented by three visual resources which will contain photographs advertisements architectural floor
