Contesting The Australian Way States Markets And Civil Society:

Contesting the Australian Way Paul Smyth, Bettina Cass, 1998 Since the 1980s public policy has been perceived as being in a crisis of uncertainty Many argue that consolidating the market imperative in both economic and social policy is the way out of this crisis In this 1999 book a leading group of writers challenge this view calling for reassertion of a mixed rather than a market economy and a reaffirmation of the egalitarianism that has characterised past Australian social policy The book confronts key issues of our time particularly rising inequality and unemployment Attempting to look beyond familiar debates about economic rationalism it discusses the role of industry policy the impact of globalisation and the usefulness of competition models in the public welfare and community sectors Asking whether economic and social policy can be reintegrated in a shared vision this groundbreaking book argues the case for reinventing government rather than marginalising it

World Yearbook of Education 2005 David Coulby, Evie Zambeta, 2005-01-14 This volume deals with two major and apparently opposing forces within education and society globalization and nationalism Globalization is often considered in economic terms of continued growth of international trade and a concentration of wealth in corporate hands yet it also encompasses technological political and cultural change The World Yearbook of Education 2005 explores the role of the education sector in our globalized knowledge economy and considers the political implications of this in terms of monopolarity and the cultural consequences of homogenization and Americanization The other strand of this study nationalism remains a persistent force within education and society in all parts of the world and this volume examines the extent to which it can fuel conflict at all levels through prejudice and intolerance Concentrating on the epistemological consequences of nationalism leading international thinkers examine the extent to which it is reflected in the curricula of schools and universities around the world Finally the complex relationship between globalization and nationalism is explored and contributors explore the part that educational institutions and practices play in forming both agendas A wide range of perspectives are employed including post colonial discourse classical economics and sociological theory Nationalism and globalization are both ongoing processes and this volume makes a case for the central role of education in both through its potential to influence change and to act as benevolent force in shaping a global community
