Treating Dissociative Identity Disorder Sarah Y. Krakauer, 2013-10-28 This is a book about the triumph of inner authority over the debilitating effects of trauma and abuse. In a simple and straightforward style a three phase model for treating dissociative identity disorder previously known as multiple personality disorder is introduced. The Collective Heart model is consistent with the current standards of care which emphasize caution and restraint. Additionally the Collective Heart model has several unique features. It highlights the retrieval of personal authority rather than the retrieval of traumatic memories identifies the fundamental inner unity underlying the fragmented personality system and introduces techniques that facilitate communication between personalities and between each personality's conscious mind and the collective heart. Six chapters of fascinating case vignettes illustrate therapeutic techniques and show how clients tap into their underlying inner unity to create the conditions for their own maturation making it safe for their alters to grow heal and eventually join the host as a seamless harmonious whole.

Maple Grove Daniel Scherschel, 2006-11 This book was written while living in the Maple Grove neighborhood. It is about the people and work in the Maple Grove area north of Bloomington and some of the events on my dad's farm. Dad called it the Showers Hedgerow Farm because the farm was owned by the Showers furniture company and the many rows of large hedge trees. Osage Orange. The chapters Blanche and James are of my parents and some family history. They are also about the time our family moved from Lawrence County Indiana to our farm in the Maple Grove area. The farm was once owned by the Showers family who cropped and sold hardwood from this and surrounding farms. The neighbor women cooked in the summer home and the men worked in the fields and the woods before going home to their own farms. The Showers Company also had a factory in Bloomington which sold furniture world wide starting about 1869.
