Contracting Out For Human Services Economic Political And Organizational perspectives:

Contracting Out for Human Services Ruth H. De Hoog, 1985-06-30 Contracting out for services has become a popular technique in government's perennial quest to cut spending. Yet seldom has the practice been examined from any but the public choice approach. This book explores contracting out in the important area of human services, covering the critical conditions of contracting and the vital points of politics, procedures, service quality and effectiveness. In doing so, DeHoog uses three theoretical perspectives drawn from social science traditions: the economic perspective of market imperfections, the political perspective of cooptation and the interdisciplinary perspective of organizational decision making. To evaluate the perspectives and their predictions in the human services, DeHoog has examined contracting in social services, Title XX and employment and training programs. CETA primarily through in-depth interviews with participants. Privatization

Bibliography, 1989 Globalizing China - Social and Governance Reforms Ka Ho Mok, 2022-12-30 Unlike most books which consider China's transformation and globalization over the last four decades by focusing on China's economic growth, this book examines how the Chinese regime has handled the increasingly complex sociopolitical and socioeconomic challenges generated as a result of the country's economic growth and transformation, challenges arising both from within the country and also from the external political environment. Based on extensive original research, the book outlines how China's economic development has generated social and governance pressures, discusses the government's social, educational and governance reforms, and highlights how China's development experiences, which differ from the Western economies with democratic political regimes, have drawn increasing attention from other countries in the developing world as an example to follow.

Contracting Out Government Services Paul Seidenstat, 1999-06-30 This text analyzes contracting out government services through the prism of economics. Beginning with the theory of privatization, it examines contracting in the criminal justice area and other diverse areas, as well as exploring the mechanics, obstacles and effects of contracting.

The United States Experience with Contracting Out Under Circular A-76 Larkin Sims Dudley, 1991 The Journal of Social, Political, and Economic Studies, 1995 Privatizing the United States Justice System Gary W. Bowman, Simon Hakim, Paul Seidenstat, 1992 As more areas of government experience budget problems, the search for efficient and cost-effective services has intensified. Private sector involvement is under heavy consideration. Twenty-eight original essays reflect expert opinions in three areas: police adjudication and corrections. Included are two reprinted articles by Warren Burger, former Chief Justice of the United States, and Richard Neely, Chief Justice of the West Virginia Supreme Court. Perspectives range from desirability to implementation. Part one analyzes public and private provision of the various police functions with an evaluation of private police services. Part two focuses on the supply of private judiciary services in civil cases. Part three looks at privatizing correctional services from supplies to complete private management. Contracting-out, Alternatives in Municipal Service Delivery Mary Ellen Huls, 1985 Skills for Effective Human Services Management Richard L.

Edwards,1991 The Politics and Economics of Privatization John G. Heilman,Gerald W. Johnson,1992 Privatization is both an economic adaptation and a strategy to alter the political landscape and the historical relationships between the public and the private sectors Both of these aspects of privatization need to be understood and appreciated because one cannot take place without the other The roles and dynamics of the public and private sectors change in privatization Thus the need arises for linking mechanisms able to harness and mesh the chaneged roles and dynamics of the two sectors The Politics and Economics of Privatization identifies defines and addresses these implications It does so by discussing the attempts in the 1980s to meet clean water needs through the privatization of wastewater treatment facilities What is privatization How does it work What is required What does it cost Is it acceptable What issues does it raise What are its implications for the implementation of national policy Political Science Quarterly ,1985 Vols 4 38 40 41 include Record of political events Oct 1 1888 Dec 31 1925 issued as a separately paged supplement to no 3 of v 31 38 and to no 1 of v 40 Public Policy Implementation George C.
