Contemporary Religious Conversions Joseph Mathew, 2001 Religious Conversion Christopher Lamb, M. Darroll Bryant, 1999-10-01 Conversion has been an important issue for most of the universal religions those usually associated with a founder such as Christianity Buddhism Islam and Judaism which have a mission to spread their message Other religions have been less concerned with conversion except in so far as it has been a negative force for them to confront This study explores how conversion has been understood by different religions during different eras and includes a survey of the textual legal ritual historic and experiential dimensions of the phenomenon of conversion Conversion of a Continent Timothy Steigenga, Edward L. Cleary, 2009-11-27 A massive religious transformation has unfolded over the past forty years in Latin America and the Caribbean In a region where the Catholic Church could once claim a near monopoly of adherents religious pluralism has fundamentally altered the social and religious landscape Conversion of a Continent brings together twelve original essays that document and explore competing explanations for how and why conversion has occurred Contributors draw on various insights from social movement theory to religious studies to help outline its impact on national attitudes and activities gender relations identity politics and reverse waves of missions from Latin America aimed at the American immigrant community Unlike other studies on religious conversion this volume pays close attention to who converts under what circumstances the meaning of conversion to the individual and how the change affects converts beliefs and actions The thematic focus makes this volume important to students and scholars in both religious studies and Latin American studies

Religious Conversions in the Mediterranean World N. Marzouki, O. Roy, 2013-08-22 While globalization undermines ideas of the nation state in the Mediterranean conversions reveal how religion can unsettle existing political and social relations Through studies of conversions across the region this book examines the challenges that conversions represent for national legal and policy ways of dealing with religious minorities A New Model of Religious Conversion Ines W. Jindra, 2014-02-06 Based on the analysis of 52 conversion narratives to various religious groups A New Model of Religious Conversion utilizes case studies for comparison of converts backgrounds network influence and conversion narratives The author convincingly illustrates a fit between the converts background and the religion they convert to such as between disorganized family backgrounds and highly structured religions Conversely those from highly structured backgrounds often convert to more open groups The book also makes it clear that not all conversions are influenced by networks or align themselves with a social constructivist view of a conversion as an account Taking converts trajectories seriously the author makes a strong case for the application of biographical sociology to the study of conversion and American sociology overall

Turning to Jesus Scot McKnight,2002-01-01 Scot McKnight s careful study of Jesus relationship with his followers reveals that elements of all three contemporary models of conversion the personal decision the sociological and the liturgical are present within the Gospel accounts But because the Gospel narratives themselves are insufficiently explicit to support only one contemporary model of conversion McKnight suggests that an enhanced reading of the Gospels should engender an appreciation for each of the models in the church today
