Narrative, Pain, and Suffering Daniel B. Carr, John David Loeser, David B. Morris, 2005 When I experience pain who or what is the me that suffers When I relieve another's pain who or what is the other that I restore to well being Increasingly these questions seem answerable only through an understanding of narrative Studies of pain narrative focus not simply on engrossing tales but on complex and subtle processes rooted in the neurobiology of self representation emotion and social interaction These processes shape how individuals and cultures experience and report pain Studies of narrative in its broadest sense not only deepen our understanding of pain and suffering but also teach us about meaning motivation and discourse as represented in the biomedical human and social sciences This book embodies the path breaking multidisciplinary perspective that was created when leading contributors in neurobiology integrative physiology anthropology psychology sociology and clinical research joined with clinicians writers and journalists from developed and developing countries Together they have produced a unique volume that speaks to core issues integral to emerging pain research and humane health care in the 21st century

The Psychologist, 2006

Evidence-based Practice Robert M. Szabo, Joy C. MacDermid, 2009 This volume of Hand Clinics will be devoted to the increasingly important and relevant topic of Evidence Based Medicine or the more inclusive term Evidence based Practice EBP EBP is the integration of individual clinical expertise with the best available external clinical evidence from systematic research and the integration of patients values and expectations It is now recognized worldwide as a foundation of quality care and all surgeons and therapists must embrace the concepts and learn the methods In order to help you become an evidence based practitioner this issue will help you develop new skills in find and appraise the best evidence embedded within the volumes of good and bad information available The issue will focus on how to apply these methods to hand surgery and rehabilitation The Centers for Medicaid and Medicare Services CMS health insurers and certification boards will provide the impetus for all of us to put into action evidence based practice This approach to practice will lead to changes in our behavior CMS introduced a pay for performance P4P initiative to promote high quality medical care based on evidence based medicine by reimbursing top performing hospitals at a higher level than poor performing hospitals The primary objectives of this program include increasing clinical quality and saving lives A secondary objective is to improve the cost effectiveness of health care delivery Governmental programs like these along with practice guidelines will lead to new expectations on your practice Whoever controls these initiatives and guidelines controls medicine and ultimately the flow of money You don t want to be left behind This issue will provide you with the basics to get started on your way to practicing evidence based medicine
