Today's Not Boring is brought to you by... Composer

The advertisement banner features a dark green background with a grid pattern. At the top, the word "COMPOSER" is written in white, with a yellow crown icon above the letter "O". Below this, three icons are displayed in a row: a blue square with a white document icon labeled "Build", a black square with a white line graph icon labeled "Backtest", and a pink square with a white coin icon labeled "Invest". The text "not boring" is written in white on the right side of the banner.

We all love Warren Buffet, but trying to "be greedy when others are fearful" is easier in theory than practice. In the market we're in, removing emotion is key... but hard for us humans.

Thankfully, there's Composer - a platform for creating and investing with rules-based trading strategies. It's basically algo-trading without Python or Excel. They have dozens of pre-made investing templates, but what's really cool is that you can edit those templates or build your own strategies from scratch, backtest them, and then invest.
