Angel En El Tejado:

El Techo de la Ballena María C. Gaztambide, 2018-12-19 The work of the 1960s Caracas based art collective El Techo de la Ballena The Roof of the Whale was called subversive and art terrorism and seen as a threat to Venezuela's national image as an emerging industrial power This volume details the historical and social contexts that shaped the collective exploring how its anti art aesthetic highlighted the shortcomings of the country's newfound oil wealth and transition to democracy Every element used by these radicalized artists in their avant garde exhibitions from Informalist canvases to torn book pages and kitsch objects to cattle carcasses and scatological content issued a critique of Venezuela's petroleum driven capitalism and the profound inequality left in its wake Embracing chaos the artists contradicted the country's politically sanctioned view of modernity which championed constant progress in the visual arts and favored geometric abstraction and kinetic art El Techo's was a backward a retrograde modernity argues María C. Gaztambide discussing how its artists turned against the norm by incorporating anachronistic postures primeval symbols colonial Latin American print culture and guerilla art tactics Artists in this group tested limits to provoke what they saw as a numbed local public through shocking displays of criticism and frustration Today as Venezuela undergoes another dramatic series of sociopolitical changes El Techo de la Ballena serves as a reminder of the power of art in resisting the status quo and effecting change in society Cara de ángel Otto Wilhelm, 2007 An interesting novel by a recognized author combining elements of history and police intrigue The story traces the lives of a sinister figure who dies as a revolutionary in 1920 to be reincarnated as a 1980s agent of genocide and social cleansing El ángel del hogar Delfina C.
