Say what I Am Called Dieter Bitterli,2009-01-01 Perhaps the most enigmatic cultural artifacts that survive from the Anglo Saxon period are the Old English riddle poems that were preserved in the tenth century Exeter Book manuscript Clever challenging and notoriously obscure the riddles have fascinated readers for centuries and provided crucial insight into the period In Say What I Am Called Dieter Bitterli takes a fresh look at the riddles by examining them in the context of earlier Anglo Latin riddles Bitterli argues that there is a vigorous common tradition between Anglo Latin and Old English riddles and details how the contents of the Exeter Book emulate and reassess their Latin predecessors while also expanding their literary and formal conventions The book also considers the ways in which convention and content relate to writing in a vernacular language A rich and illuminating work that is as intriguing as the riddles themselves Say What I Am Called is a rewarding study of some of the most interesting works from the Anglo Saxon period Riddles at work in the early medieval tradition Megan Cavell,Jennifer Neville,2020-03-13 Capitalising on developments in the field over the past decade Riddles at work provides an up to date microcosm of research on the early medieval riddle tradition The book presents a wide range of traditional and experimental methodologies The contributors treat the riddles both as individual poems and as parts of a tradition but most importantly they address Latin and Old English riddles side by side bringing together texts that originally developed in conversation with each other but have often been separated by scholarship Together the chapters reveal that there is no single right way to read these texts but rather a multitude of productive paths This book will appeal to students and scholars of early medieval studies It contains new as well as established voices including Jonathan Wilcox Mercedes Salvador Bello and Jennifer Neville The Wild Thornberrys David Lewman,2001 A collection of wacky riddles about the many creatures Eliza Thornberry and her family have encountered in their travels including snakes gorillas and giraffes
