Embodiment and Experience Thomas J. Csordas,1994-11-17 Students of culture have been increasingly concerned with the ways in which cultural values are inscribed on the body These essays go beyond this passive construal of the body to a position in which embodiment is understood as the existential condition of cultural life From this standpoint embodiment is reducible neither to representations of the body to the body as an objectification of power to the body as a physical entity or biological organism nor to the body as an inalienable centre of individual consciousness This more sensate and dynamic view is applied by the contributors to a variety of topics including the expression of emotion the experience of pain ritual healing dietary customs and political violence Their purpose is to contribute to a phenomenological theory of culture and self an anthropology that is not merely about the body but from the body Baguazhang (Emei Baguazhang) Shou-Yu Liang,Jwing-Ming Yang,Wen-Ching Wu,1994 This comprehensive guide explains the principles and practices essential for Bagua training
