Secondary Metabolism in Microorganisms, Plants and Animals M. Luckner,2013-12-11 Many of the reactions and compounds involved in metabolism are almost identical in the different groups of living organisms They are known as primary metabolic reactions and primary metabolic products In addition however a wide variety of biochemical pathways are characteristic of only a few species of organisms of single chemical races or even of a certain stage of differentiation of special ized cells Such pathways are collectively referred to as secondary metabolism and the compounds formed are called secondary products Secondary products are frequently revealed by their color smell or taste They are responsible for the flavor of most foodstuffs and beverages and for the color and fragrance of flowers and fruits Many of them are part of the materia medica e g alkaloids cardiac glycosides antibiotics or compounds acting as hormones Others are used by industry e g rubber tannins and cellulose This book treats the organization and significance of biosynthesis storage transformation and degradation of the most important groups of secondary products in microorganisms plants and animals It shows that the formation of secondary products is a common characteristic of specialized cells brought about by the action of special enzymes encoded by specific genetic material It demonstrates that the biosynthesis of secondary products is typically without significance for the individual producer cell but may play a decisive role in the development and function of the producer organism as a whole

Fungicides Mizuho Nita, 2013-05-15 This book comprised of three sections that focus various aspects of fungicide usages and its consequences In the eight chapter first section authors discuss implementation of Integrated Plant Disease Management on a wide array of crops grown in different parts of the world wheat productions in Argentina and in the US corn cotton and Eucalyptus productions in Brazil rice productions in India peanut productions in the southern US and pine seedling nurseries in Serbia The second section is composed of two chapters that explore the possibility of natural products as fungicides The final section discusses two interesting and important topics on the fungicide fungus interaction that can influence the implementation of plant disease management practices fungicide resistance and hormesis
