Making Music in Japan's Underground Jennifer Milioto Matsue, 2008-07-15 Grounded in the fields of Ethnomusicology Anthropology Popular Music Studies and Japanese Studies this book explores the underground Tokyo hardcore scene ultimately asking what play as resistance through performance of the scene tells us about Japanese society in general Matsue highlights the complicated positioning of young adult Japanese in contemporary Japan as they negotiate both increasing social demands and increasing problems in society at large Further drawing on theories of play identity building and the construction of gender all informed by the increasingly influential field of Performance Studies the book offers a highly interdisciplinary look at the importance of musical scenes for expressing resistance at the turn of the 21st century Within the underground Tokyo hardcore scene this resistance is expressed through play with individual and collective identity in intimate and potentially illicit spaces with an arguably challenging sound and performance style Planning for Learning through Making Music Judith Harries, 2012-10-10 Plan for six weeks of learning covering all six areas of learning and development of the EYFS through the topic of making music The Planning for Learning series is a series of topic books written around the Early Years Foundation Stage designed to make planning easy This book takes you through six weeks of activities on the theme of making music Each activity is linked to a specific Early Learning Goal and the book contains a skills overview so that practitioners can keep track of which areas of learning and development they are promoting This book also includes a photocopyable page to give to parents with ideas for them to get involved with their children's topic as well as ideas for bringing the six weeks of learning together The weekly themes in this book include voice and body music using musical instruments and beat and rhythm Making Music in Montessori Michael Johnson, 2020-11-21 Infused with a warm affable tone Making Music in Montessori is the Guide's guide to music education providing Montessori teachers all at once a snappy practical handbook, music theory, mentor, pedagogical manual, and resource anthology. The book's goal: To give teachers confidence in music so that when their children walk away from a lesson, all fired up to compose their own music, their teacher will know how to guide them. Before Making Music in Montessori, teachers may have only dreamed of a classroom buzzing with children working, learning, and growing with music alongside all of the other subject areas in the Montessori curriculum. Now it's a reality. If children's minds are a fertile field, then Making Music in Montessori will stir Montessori teachers of all musical backgrounds to don their overalls, roll up their sleeves, sow the musical seeds, and watch them blossom under their children's flaming imagination.

Living in Worlds of Music Minette Mans, 2009-09-22. Informed by her in-depth ethnomusical knowledge, the result of detailed fieldwork, Mans's book is about musical worlds and how we as people inhabit them. The book asserts that an understanding of our musical worlds can be a transformative educational tool that could have a significant role to play in multicultural music and arts education. She explores the way in which musical expression, with its myriad cultural variations, reveals much about identity and cultural norms and shows how particular musical sounds are aesthetically related to these norms. The author goes further to suggest that similar systems can be detected across cultures while each world remains colored by a distinctive soundscape. Mans also looks at the way each cultural soundscape is a symbolic manifestation of a society's collective cognition, sorting musical behavior and sounds into clusters and patterns that fulfill each society's requirements. She probes the fact that in today's globalized and mobile world, as people move from one society to another, cross-cultural acts and hybrids result in a number of new aesthetics. Finally, in addition to three personal narratives by musicians from different continents, the author has invited scholars from diverse specializations and locations to comment on different sections of the book, opening up a critical dialogue with voices from different parts of the globe. Musical categorization, identity, values, aesthetic evaluation, creativity, curriculum, assessment, and teacher education are some of the issues tackled in this manner.

Creating Music and Sound for Games G. W. Childs, 2007. Creating Music and Sound for Games is about mastering the unique creative challenges faced by musicians and sound designers new to the field of composing music for computer and console games. In addition to covering the artistic angle, this book helps the reader choose the right hardware and software for composing music for games. Tutorials teach readers to develop music and audio cues to match the varying action in a game and how to successfully synchronize and format their compositions for the game industry. Finally, the book offers practical advice on breaking into the business.

Music Alan Blackwood, 1990. This book surveys music through the ages, including musical instruments, the development of classical music, jazz, folk music, and more.

Music Archiving in the World Gabriele Berlin, Artur Simon, 2002.

Creating Music Patricia Elaine Riley, 2016. Children create music in individually unique ways but also using common processes. Each creating process component stated in the United States National Music Standards: imagine, plan, and make, evaluate, and refine and present NCCAS 2014 is explored in this text using children's creations from China India Ireland Mexico and the United States as examples What can the characteristics of music created by children from five diverse locations teach us about creating music How do the sounds surrounding children in their schools homes and communities affect the music they create and what can be learned from this How do children's similar creating processes inform how we teach music These questions are investigated as the children's music compositions and improvisations are shared and examined As this narrative unfolds readers will become acquainted with the children their original music and what the children say about their music and its creation What we learn from this exploration leads to teaching strategies projects lesson plans and mentoring recommendations that will help music educators benefit from these particular children's creations
