Limits of Hitler's Power Edward Norman Peterson, 2015-12-08 Professor Peterson examines these questions in relation to Hitler's government with its reputedly unlimited internal power he traces the flow of power throughout the Nazi state from 1933 to 1945 from Hitler to his ministers to provincial governments Through a detailed analysis of the province of Bavaria the author shows that Hitler did not have the absolute power often assumed that power in a totalitarian state is far more complex than many historians have conjectured that Hitler dealt with a vast bureaucratic structure complicated by constant internecine fighting and that only rarely did he command complete obedience Originally published in 1969 The Princeton Legacy Library uses the latest print on demand technology to again make available previously out of print books from the distinguished backlist of Princeton University Press These editions preserve the original texts of these important books while presenting them in durable paperback and hardcover editions The goal of the Princeton Legacy Library is to vastly increase access to the rich scholarly heritage found in the thousands of books published by Princeton University Press since its founding in 1905

Colossae, Colossians, Philemon Alan H. Cadwallader,2023-05-15 The material culture of Colossae is here for the first time given as full a collation as possible to the present day 38 inscriptions 88 coins and 49 testimonia are brought together in the context of a thorough overview of the site of Colossae These include evidence that has been thought lost or has been overlooked or misinterpreted or has only recently been discovered New readings insights and analyses of the material evidence are brought into a highly creative exchange with the two letters of the Second Testament connected with the site. The texts thereby become additional evidence for an appreciation of the life of a city in the first two centuries of the Common Era. The fullest collation of evidence for the ancient Phrygian city in the Greco-Roman period was the coin catalogue assembled by Hans von Aulock 1987. The most recent catalogue of the inscriptions of Colossae was published by William Calder and William Buckler in 1939. There has never been a full inventory of ancient writings that bear witness to the site. Alan H. Cadwallader in his volume not only updates this material by subjecting it to thorough critical analysis in the light of comparative evidence from across the Roman province of Asia and the Mediterranean world. New discoveries from the site and from museums and collections in the United Kingdom, Europe, Russia, Australia, and the United States are introduced. Into this assemblage and interpretation are brought the letters to the Colossians and Philemon in the Second Testament writings of the Christian Church. For the first time the letters are released to be players in the highly competitive environment of a city negotiating its way in the new realities of imperial Rome. Here the letters and their recipients become participants in the society of the day, contributing, critiquing, and struggling to forge an identity for the Christ followers within that world. Echoes of the gymnasium, gladiatorial spectacles, cosmological speculations, religious devotion, and sanction, family structures, commerce, and industry struggles for justice, intercity competition, and legal negotiations are found in the letters, echoes that witness to their participation in the life of Colossae. This is a radical new approach incorporating the turn to material culture as the embedding of literature and its consumers rather than an embellishing backdrop.

Hitler's Hitmen, Guido Knopp, 2002. What made six ordinary men instigate the terrifying criminal Nazi regime throughout German society and beyond with such enthusiasm and diligence? Supported by recently discovered files from all over the world and interviews with former Nazi members and victims, Guido Knopp examines the background and activities of some of Hitler's right-hand men. Here is Adolf Eichmann, who arranged the deportation of Jews in crowded trains before sentencing thousands to a terrifying death as part of the Final Solution; Martin Bormann, Hitler's secretary and deputy who controlled sensitive papers to influence government policy; Joachim von Ribbentrop, Hitler's foreign advisor; Roland Friesler, known as the hanging judge on account of his brutality in administering Nazi law; Baldur von Schirach, leader of the Hitler Youth movement; and Joseph Mengele, the doctor involved in the bizarre genetic experiments on concentration camp prisoners. These very different people all shared an awestruck dedication to Hitler and a deep hatred of the Jews.
