Buddhism In Action Volume I:

Peace, Value, and Wisdom George David Miller, 2021-11-22 This book introduces readers to the Buddhist based philosophy of education of Daisaku Ikeda Ikeda s philosophy of education offers human revolution value creation and dialogue as counterweights to the violence lurking in today s classrooms Where education becomes wisdom based it transforms learners into keen assessors of their inner lives and establishes a foundation for global citizenship Faith Into Action Daisaku Ikeda, 1999 Taiwan Today Anita Sharma, Sreemati Chakrabarti, 2010 Contributed articles presented at a conference titled Taiwan Today organized by the Department of East Asian Studies University of Delhi in January 2007

Religious Methods and Resources in Bioethics P.F. Camenisch, 2013-03-09 A volume on religious theological methods in biomedical ethics inevitably of whether the methodological dimension can be distinct raises the question gushed from the various other things that go on in ethical discourse It is difficult to answer this question definitively since many elements in moral conversation can be interpreted in different ways Barbara Hilkert Andolsen illustrates this issue in this volume when she defines one of her crucial categories gender justice as being both procedural and substantive normative This difficulty of finally separating the methodological from the normative arises in many areas of contemporary ethical writing both feminist and otherwise Nevertheless it seems that in many cases we can separate out the methodological issues with considerable precision Albert Jonsen and James Childress achieve just such a sharp focus in their essays This does not mean that a careful dissecting of their papers would not reveal normative elements lurking about their methodological points It is simply to say that the issues they analyze and the positions they take are at least prima facie overwhelmingly methodological They are much more about how we think about ethical matters than they are about what we think about them

Love in the Time of Ethnography Lucinda Carspecken, 2017-11-15 Love in the Time of Ethnography explores love variously defined as an important facet of human life and a worthy focus of study The authors look at love in association with an Alevi and Sunni couple in Turkey organizers of Mexican American and immigrant youth movements Christian missionaries in China an elderly man with dementia two women coming home to queer identity a White researcher working with Black women in the US the common ground between Dogen s Zen teachings and Habermas s critical theory an Albanian Sufi community in Michigan and interactions between humans and the natural world It also includes theoretical writing on the place of love in social analysis whether this involves relationships between researchers and participants or the nature of human connection itself The authors argue that social research is an affective process as well as a cognitive one and that fellow feeling is an essential component of making sense of the world Along with more traditional scholarly forms the contributors to this book use auto ethnography life stories archival research and poetry noting that style itself conveys information and emotion Writing is always to some extent partisan While anthropologists and other social researchers have explored this idea over the last few decades they have more often explored it with an eye to critique than to the ideals underlying that critique This is a collection of essays about what ethnographers are aiming for as well as the problems they address and the authors discuss ethical principles like agape hizmet and cari o as rationales for ethnography and rationales for social change

Directory, 1998 ,1998 Pacific Affairs ,1930 Includes book reviews and bibliographies Altruism in World Religions Suzanne Neusner,Bruce Chilton,2005-11-08 In 1830 philosopher Auguste Comte coined the term altruism to provide a general definition for the act of selflessly caring for others But does this modern conception of sacrificing one s own interests for the well being of others apply to the charitable behaviors encouraged by all world religions In Altruism in World Religions prominent scholars from an array of religious perspectives probe the definition of altruism to determine whether it is a category that serves to advance the study of religion Exploring a range of philosophical and religious thought from Greco Roman philia to Judaism Christianity and Islam from Hinduism in India to Buddhism and the religions of China and Japan the authors find that altruism becomes problematic when applied to religious studies because it is in fact a concept absent from religion Chapters on Judaism Christianity and Islam reveal that followers of these religions cannot genuinely perform self sacrificing acts because God has promised to reward every good deed Moreover the separation between the self and the other that self sacrifice necessarily implies runs counter to Buddhist thought which makes no such distinction By challenging our assumptions about the act of self sacrifice as it relates to religious teachings the authors have shown altruism to be more of a secular than religious notion At the same time their findings highlight how charitable acts operate with the values and structures of the religions studied The American Illustrated Methodist Magazine ,1899 The Book Buyer ,1889
