Building Shared Responsibility for Student Learning Anne Conzemius, Jan O'Neill, 2001-12-15 Who is responsible for student learning Walk into an effective school and ask this question of anyone a teacher a student the principal a parent volunteer a secretary and you ll get the same answer I am Shared responsibility is something school communities build from within It s what happens when all school people accept that what they do makes a difference in how all students learn when they have the knowledge they need to make informed decisions about the best way to promote learning and when they have the skills and opportunities to translate their ideas into effective action Anne Conzemius and Jan O Neill present a practical framework for building shared responsibility within schools and school systems They identify three critical components Focus The common vision mission values and expectations that provide clarity and lead to new levels of performance Reflection The commitment to test assumptions learn from data and adjust practices accordingly Collaboration The process of developing relationships where all work toward the same objectives and rely on each other to achieve their goals Building shared responsibility for student learning is an ongoing activity a journey and not a destination This research based resource provides a map in the form of effective structures systems processes and policies It explains how to set powerful goals and shares inspiring stories of educators who have embarked on this journey toward higher professional competency increased staff satisfaction rising test scores and improved student results Note This product listing is for the Adobe Acrobat PDF version of the book
