Morra-Imas,Linda G. Morra,Ray C. Rist,2009 The Road to Results Designing and Conducting Effective Development Evaluations presents concepts and procedures for evaluation in a development context It provides procedures and examples on how to set up a monitoring and evaluation system how to conduct participatory evaluations and do social mapping and how to construct a rigorous quasi experimental design to answer an impact question The text begins with the context of development evaluation and how it arrived where it is today It then discusses current issues driving development evaluation such as the Millennium Development Goals and the move from simple project evaluations to the broader understandings of complex evaluations The topics of implementing Results based Measurement and Evaluation and constructing a Theory of Change are emphasized throughout the text Next the authors take the reader down the road to results presenting procedures for evaluating projects programs and policies by using a Design Matrix to help map the process This road includes determining the overall approach formulating questions selecting designs developing data collection instruments choosing a sampling strategy and planning data analysis for qualitative quantitative and mixed method evaluations The book also includes discussions on conducting complex evaluations how to manage evaluations how to present results and ethical behavior including principles standards and guidelines The final chapter discusses the future of development evaluation This comprehensive text is an essential tool for those involved in development evaluation

Evaluating Communication for Development June Lennie, Jo Tacchi, 2013-02-11 Evaluating Communication for Development presents a comprehensive framework for evaluating communication for development C4D This framework combines the latest thinking from a number of fields in new ways It critiques dominant instrumental accountability based approaches to development and evaluation and offers an alternative holistic participatory mixed methods approach based on systems and complexity thinking and other key concepts It maintains a focus on power gender and other differences and social norms The authors have designed the framework as a way to focus on achieving sustainable social change and to continually improve and develop C4D initiatives The benefits and rigour of this approach are supported by examples and case studies from a number of action research and evaluation capacity development projects undertaken by the authors over the past fifteen years Building on current arguments within the fields of C4D and development the authors reinforce the case for effective communication being a central and vital component of participatory forms of development something that needs to be appreciated by decision makers They also consider ways of increasing the effectiveness of evaluation capacity development from grassroots to management level in the development context an issue of growing importance to improving the quality effectiveness and utilisation of monitoring and evaluation studies in this field The book includes a critical review of the key approaches methodologies and methods that are considered effective for planning evaluation assessing the outcomes of C4D and engaging in continuous learning This rigorous book is of immense theoretical and practical value to students scholars and professionals researching or working in development communication and media applied anthropology and evaluation and program planning

From Studies to Streams Nicoletta Stame, 2017-10-24 Recent developments in policy evaluation have focused on new notions of process and use or notably influence But this debate among evaluators on how evaluations are used has been essentially a closed one evaluators talking only among themselves The debate has gone on seemingly oblivious to fundamental changes in the intellectual landscape of public management organizational theory information technology and knowledge management New realities demand a different approach toward evaluation The current era is characterized by the emergence of an increasingly global set of pressures for governments to perform effectively not just efficiently and to demonstrate that their performance is producing desired results Information technology allows enormous quantities of information to be stored sorted analyzed and made available at little or no cost The result for those in the evaluation community is that while individual evaluations are still conducted and reported upon they are a rapidly diminishing source of information In the new environment ever accelerating political and organizational demands and expectations are reframing thinking about the definition of what fundamentally constitutes evaluation and what we understand as its applications In this twelfth volume in the Comparative Policy Evaluation series authors from fourteen nations address these issues from multiple vantage points From Studies to Streams is an essential tool for policymakers government officials and scholars interested in the contemporary status of evaluation

Evaluation Research Methods

Elliot Stern, 2005-01-21 Evaluation is a set of research methods and associated methodologies with a distinctive purpose. They provide a means to judge actions and activities in terms of values, criteria, and standards. This collection offers a complete guide to evaluations research methods. VOLUME ONE Foundations, Issues in Evaluation. VOLUME TWO Evaluation Practice for Engagement. VOLUME THREE Explanatory and Economic Models. VOLUME FOUR Strengthening Policies and Programmes. Building Evaluation Capacity Hallie Preskill, Darlene F. Russ-Eft, 2015-08-14 The Second Edition of Building Evaluation Capacity provides 89 highly structured activities which require minimal instructor preparation and encourage application based learning of how to design and conduct evaluation studies. Ideal for use in program evaluation courses, professional development workshops, and organization stakeholder trainings, the activities cover the entire process of evaluation including understanding what evaluation is, the politics and ethics, the influence of culture, various models, approaches, and designs, data collection and analysis methods, communicating and reporting progress and findings, and building and sustaining support. Each activity includes an overview, instructional objectives, minimum and maximum number of participants, range of time required, materials needed, primary instructional method, and procedures for facilitators to help learners in the most common evaluation practices. Influencing Change, 2011-01-01 This book i reviews how evaluation can lead the change process in policy and institutional development ii presents a variety of good practices and lessons learned in building up evaluation capacities and iii introduces new perspectives on evaluation capacity building. The Foundations of Evaluation and Impact Research Pascaline Descy, Manfred Tessaring, 2004 Recoge 1 Philosophies and types of evaluation research 2 Developing standards to evaluate vocational education and training programmes 3 Methods and limitations of evaluation and impact research 4 From project to policy evaluation in vocational education and training possible concepts and tools Evidence from countries in transition. Program Evaluation in a Complex Organizational System: Lessons from Cooperative Extension Marc T. Braverman, 2008 This issue of New Directions for Evaluation focuses on evaluation in complex organizations. The themes that are examined, the mainstreaming of evaluation within organizations, the growth of evaluation capacity, and the use of evaluation to promote organizational learning, are relevant for evaluators who operate in environments marked by multiple organizational levels, varied funding streams, divergent purposes for evaluative information, and numerous stakeholders and organizational partners. The national Cooperative Extension System serves as a recurring case study that links the topics together. Cooperative Extension is a system of institutions that includes every state's land grant universities, the U.S. Department of Agriculture, and local county governments. The linkages across professional communities and distinct institutions create a highly complex environment presenting numerous challenges for evaluators working with community based programs. Extension's experiences contribute to a rapidly evolving knowledge base about effective evaluation practice across a variety of organizational settings. This is the 120th volume of the Jossey-Bass quarterly thematic journal New Directions for Evaluation, an official publication of the American Evaluation Association. The journal publishes empirical methodological and theoretical works on all aspects of evaluation Each issue is devoted to a single topic with contributions solicited organized reviewed and edited by a guest editor or editors Issues may take any of several forms such as a series of related chapters a debate or a long article followed by brief critical commentaries

OECD Journal on Budgeting, 2003 A Case Study of Evaluating Use and Influence in School Settings Shu-Huei Cheng, 2006

Nonprofits and Evaluation Joanne G. Carman, Kimberly A. Fredericks, 2008-10-13 This issue of New Directions for Evaluation explores evaluation within the context of nonprofit organizations In recent years many have observed that nonprofit organizations are under increasing pressure to demonstrate their effectiveness and document their program outcomes as the current political and funding environment continues to stress the importance of accountability and measuring performance Foundations government agencies and other funders are asking nonprofit organizations for more evaluation and performance measurement data Yet most nonprofit organizations continue to struggle with these demands and many lack the capacity to implement evaluation and performance measurement in comprehensive or meaningful ways

Building Evaluation Capacity Hallie Preskill, Darlene F. Russ-Eft, 2004-08-19 Building Evaluation Capacity provides 72 activities for learning how to design and conduct evaluation studies These activities address the entire evaluation process Each activity includes an overview instructional objectives time estimates materials needed handouts and procedures for effectively using the activity whether there are a few participants or an unlimited number in small groups To help the reader locate specific kinds of activities the book includes a chart that names the activity the time needed to implement the activity and whether background information or knowledge is required prior to implementing the activity The book also includes several strategies for forming groups and a glossary of instructional strategies

Evaluating Public Participation in Policy Making Joanne Caddy, Organisation for Economic Co-operation and Development, 2005-08-31 Evaluating Public Participation in Policy Making examines the key issues for consideration when evaluating information consultation and public participation It looks at theory and practice and draws heavily upon the insights of experts from OECD countries Rather than a technical manual for professional evaluators it offers strategic guidance for policy makers and senior government officials responsible for commissioning and using evaluations of public engagement It offers concrete examples drawn from current practice in Canada the Czech Republic Finland Italy Mexico Norway Sweden and the UK

Process Use in Theory, Research, and Practice J. Bradley Cousins, 2007 Conceptions of use are grounded within a common conception that use and influence can be traced to evaluation findings or to the knowledge outputs of evaluative activities Yet a qualitatively different type of use and impact began to emerge from evaluation practice and research on it This other sort of consequence process use appeared to be attributable to something wholly independent of evaluation findings specifically the activities or processes of evaluation as opposed to its products or outputs This volume is a multifaceted exploration of process use it includes methodological empirical and conceptual inquiries as well as rich narrative forays into the domain of evaluation practice Such a comprehensive approach serves to deepen understanding of processes as being pivotal in contemporary theory on evaluation consequences. This is the 116th volume of the Jossey Bass quarterly report series New Directions for Evaluation, a publication of Jossey Bass and the American Evaluation Association. The journal publishes empirical, methodological, and theoretical works on all aspects of evaluation.

Subject Guide to Books in Print, 1991

Action Research and New Media Greg Hearn, 2009

Action research is now a well documented and well accepted research methodology. Moreover, it is especially appropriate in new media research where innovation and change are continual and where processes and outcomes are usually not predictable and often involve fuzzy and subjective human elements. This book offers a systematic, in-depth academic overview of the application of action research methods to the field of new media. In this space, it is the first publication of its kind in what is a new but rapidly growing field. The book is divided into two sections. Introducing the two key concepts, namely new media and action research, the first section describes the underlying principles, processes, questions, methods, and tools that are relevant to an action research approach to new media inquiry. This is followed by a deeper exploration of three advanced, innovative approaches to action research and new media: ethnographic network and anticipatory action research. The third and final section presents four case studies and their individual applications of action research in different new media contexts.
