As bibliographers or book historians we perform our work by changing the function of the objects we study We rarely pick up an Aldine edition to read one of the classical texts it contains Print culture under this notion is not a medium for writing or thought but a historical object of study our bibliographical field our own concoction becomes the true referent of the objects we define as its foundation From the Introduction What is a book in the study of print culture For the scholar of material texts it is not only a singular copy carrying the unique traces of printing and preservation efforts or an edition repeated and repeatable or a vehicle for ideas to be abstracted from the physical copy But when the bibliographer situates a book copy within the methods of book history Joseph A Dane contends it is the known set of assumptions which govern the discipline that bibliographic arguments privilege repeat or challenge Book history he writes is us In Blind Impressions Dane reexamines the field of material book history by questioning its most basic assumptions and definitions How is print defined What are the limits of printing history What constitutes evidence His concluding section takes form as a series of short studies in theme and variation considering such matters as two color printing the composing stick used by hand press printers the bibliographical status of book fragments and the function of scholarly illustration in the Digital Age Meticulously detailed deeply learned and often contrarian Blind Impressions is a bracing critique of the way scholars define and solve problems
