Desert in Modern Literature and Philosophy Aidan Tynan, 2020-06-18 Aidan explores the ways in which Nietzsche's warning that the desert grows has been taken up by Heidegger Derrida and Deleuze in their critiques of modernity and the desert in literature ranging from T S Eliot to Don DeLillo from imperial travel writing to postmodernism and from the Old Testament to salvagepunk

The Desert Michael Welland, 2014-09-15 From endless sand dunes and prickly cacti to shimmering mirages and green oases deserts evoke contradictory images in us They are lands of desolation but also of romance of blistering Mojave heat and biting Gobi cold Covering a quarter of the earth's land mass and providing a home to half a billion people they are both a physical reality and landscapes of the mind The idea of the desert has long captured Western imagination put on display in films and literature but these portrayals often fail to capture the true scope and diversity of the people living there Bridging the scientific and cultural gaps between perception and reality The Desert celebrates our fascination with these arid lands and their inhabitants as well as their importance both throughout history and in the world today Covering an immense geographical range Michael Welland wanders from the Sahara to the Atacama depicting the often bizarre adaptations of plants and animals to these hostile environments He also looks at these seemingly infertile landscapes in the context of their place in history as the birthplaces not only of critical evolutionary adaptations civilizations and social progress but also of ideologies Telling the stories of the diverse peoples who call the desert home he describes how people have survived there

their contributions to agricultural development and their emphasis on water and its scarcity He also delves into the allure of deserts and how they have been used in literature and film and their influence on fashion art and architecture As Welland reveals deserts may be difficult to define but they play an active role in the evolution of our global climate and society at large and their future is of the utmost importance Entertaining informative and surprising The Desert is an intriguing new look at these seemingly harsh and inhospitable landscapes

Getting Over the Color Green Scott Slovic, 2001 Desert vistas are often deemed vacant inhospitable wastelands Don't suggest that to Joy Harjo Pat Mora or other contemporary southwestern writers In these arid stretches often devoid of green today's southwestern writers see pyrotechnic colors and Gothic shapes that excite and often overwhelm the imagination And they capture this excitement in words that fix these desert images in the minds of readers who may too often look at the world through green colored glasses This anthology of contemporary nature writing from the Greater Southwest brings together a host of writers including peers of Edward Abbey such as Charles Bowden and Ann Zwinger and representatives of a new generation of writers such as Rick Bass and Terry Tempest Williams The book is an eclectic blend of nonfiction and fiction field notes and poetry through which artists of diverse backgrounds both celebrate and illuminate the unique vitality and complexity of southwestern literature proving that green is only one of many colors on their palette The selections included here range all across the southwestern landscape and explore adventures in the wild topics in natural history living close to the land and efforts at conservation and restoration They clearly demonstrate that there is grace and beauty in this often maligned part of the world both in the human traditions that have developed in the region and in the natural features of the desert itself
