Collective Decision-Making: Norman Schofield, 2013-03-09 In the last decade the techniques of social choice theory game theory and positive political theory have been combined in interesting ways so as to provide a common framework for analyzing the behavior of a developed political economy Social choice theory itself grew out of the innovative attempts by Kenneth Arrow 1951 and Duncan Black 1948 1958 to extend the range of economic theory in order to deal with collective decision making over public goods Later work by William Baumol 1952 and James Buchanan and Gordon Tullock 1962 focussed on providing an economic interpretation of democratic institutions In the same period Anthony Downs 1957 sought to model representative democracy and elections while William Riker 1962 made use of work in cooperative game theory by John von Neumann and Oscar Morgenstern 1944 to study coalition behavior In my view these rational choice analyses of collective decision making have their antecedents in the arguments of Adam Smith 1759 1776 James Madison 1787 and the Marquis de Condorcet 1785 about the design of political institutions In the introductory chapter to this volume I briefly describe how some of the current normative and positive aspects of social choice date back to these earlier writers
